Italian Fliers Bomb French Naval Bases

Accuse Allies Of Air Raids On Open Cities

Rome Radio Describes United States Attitude Toward European War as 'Unintelligible and Futile:' Malta Attacked Again.

BULLETIN

CAIRO — (AP) — Roaring south and west from Egyptian bases, the Royal Air Force smashed new blows today at Italian airdromes in Libya and Abyssinia and at the Red sea ports of Eritrea.

(By International News Service)

ROME—Italian air raids on important French naval bases which started huge fires and caused other damage were announced by the Italian war communique today.

The war bulletin, Italy's second in the conflict, told of raids on the French Mediterranean port of Toulon and the French base at Bizerta, Tunisia.

At the same time, the Rome radio charged that British and French war planes have carried out attacks on "populous Italian cities."

The military communique stated:

"The Italian air force carried out further bombing raids on enemy air and naval bases, according to plan.

"A raid on Bizerta and a raid on Toulon were especially important.

"Huge fires were started at Bizerta and damage was caused to a plant. Aircraft were hit on the ground and nine of these can be considered as put out of action.

"All of aircraft returned to their respective bases.

"In the Mediterranean one of our submarines torpedoed an enemy cruiser and an oil tanker of 10,000 tons.

"At Toruk near the frontier of Cyrenaica, an attempted British air and naval attack was repulsed by our land, naval and air forces. Slight damage was done to a plat and one of our small mine sweepers was sunk.

"In Italian East Africa, enemy air raids were carried out against airdromes at Asmara, Goura, Adiousa and Agordat, causing slight material damage and ten deaths among Italian natives engaged at the airdromes.

"It is now established that six aircraft definitely were brought down by our fighters over Cyrenaica yesterday.

"Enemy aircraft, probably British, carried out night flights over a few towns in northern Italy. Bombs which fell at Turin, an open town, caused little damage and some loss of life among the civilian population. A detailed re-

SHORT RECESS

Compromise Plan Considered of Congress Session.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt's legislative leaders have informed him that congress is determined to remain in session until the world crisis shows some sign of abating, it was learned today.

The information was conveyed as the position of the Allies seemed to grow hourly more precarious and congressman after congressman joined the ranks of the "stay in session" bloc.

Administration leaders, virtually abandoning all hope that congress could adjourn on the scheduled date of June 22, were believed trying to work out a compromise in which short recesses would be taken.

Display Flag Tomorrow

Tomorrow is Flag day. All Mansfield should observe it with flag displays on home and business properties.

Tomorrow will mark the 163rd anniversary of the adoption of the American flag by the Continental congress. The flag, which tradition says was made by Betsy Ross, had been displayed earlier in several battles between the Colonial troops and the English, but it was not until June 14, 1777 that it was officially recognized by congress.

This year patriotic organizations asked that the week of June 8-14 be observed as national Flag week, ending on the anniversary of its adoption.

ARM TO TEETH, LINDBERGH PLEA

Colonel Pays Surprise Visit to Capital, Views Allies' Situation as Dark One.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A dark picture of the Allies' military position in Europe, combined with a warning that America must urgently "arm to the teeth," has been given a group of congressional leaders by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, it was learned today.

Lindbergh, appearing unheralded in the capital, conferred with five senators and one representative last night and made plans for another radio address to the nation to urge that America prepare for war, but remain aloof meanwhile from the European conflict.

It will be his third radio speech since the guns began to roar in Europe last September.

The "Flying Colonel," who foretold Germany's immense fighting power in the air a full year before the war began, was understood to have given his congressional audience an extremely gloomy picture of the Allies' military situation. While he made no precise predictions as to the war's outcome, he appeared to feel that Great Bri-

TOO EMPHATIC IN WAR VIEWS

Opinion of Mussolini Voiced In Wrong Place.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)— Lee Battles, 32, Madison, O., woke up badly beaten in a hospital today because he "discussed" the European war too emphatically in the presense of several persons of Italian descent.

Battles was waiting for a bus on an east side corner. Witnesses told police he started to "cuss" Benito Mussolini, the Italian premier, for "backstabbing" in the current international situation. Several of his audience took exception and jumped on him.

Battles was unconscious for several hours and suffered a broken nose, broken jaw and possible skull fracture.

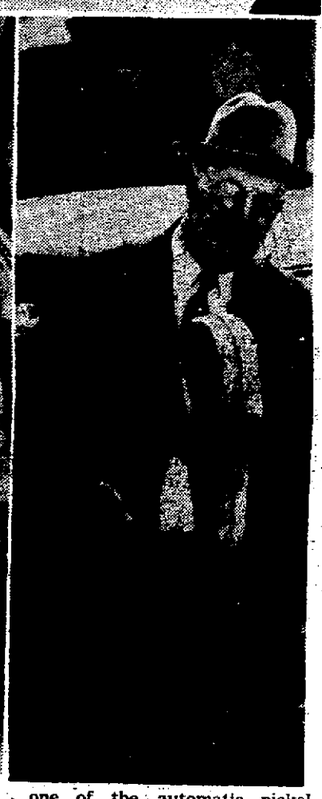
RETIRES AGAIN

Quits Farming at 55 to Open Store, Now He's 105.

SWEET SPRINGS, Mo.—(U.P.)— Thomas A. Willis, "retired" from farming at 55 to open a general store.

His old age has lasted another 50 years. He's retired from the store business, too, but still gets around without a cane.

Mansfield Officials See Parking Meters Work



Zanesville with 325 parking meters is "sold" on the machines as a means of eliminating double parking and clearing traffic congestion. Where parking space was at a premium two years ago it can now be found on almost any downtown street at any hour as the top photograph taken yesterday noon shows. In the picture below on the right Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, examines one of the automatic nickel meters. On the left, Miss Irene Crock, demonstrates to John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce how to "buy" 60 minutes of parking for five cents.

Parking Meters Solve Zanesville's Problem

Mansfield Officials Told 75 Per Cent of Congestion Eliminated; Single Policeman Does Work of Five.

By ROBERT E. ROGERS
(News-Journal Staff Writer)

ZANESVILLE—This city's 325 parking meters have practically eliminated double parking: cleared traffic congestion 75 per cent, and brought in revenue of $21,000 during their first full year of operation, Mansfield officials were informed here yesterday.

With a bill before Mansfield city council calling for installation of parking meters in downtown Mansfield on a trial basis, city officials came here to look into the operation of the machines and gather information concerning their acceptance by the public.

Those who made the trip were Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, Police Chief Meade K. Bates, Arthur L. Croak, member of council's traffic committee and sponsor of the bill, and John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"Opposition to meters when installed has practically disappeared," Service Director A. S. Herzer of Zanesville told the Mansfield delegation. He said city council had received signed petitions from Zanesville business men on three different occasions since first installations were made and that plans were

BODY FOUND

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— The body of a man found in a water-filled ditch behind the yards of a lumber company has been identified as that of Burt E. Bower, formerly of Zanesville. Officers placed his age at about 50. Authorities said death appeared to have occurred from natural causes.

Chief to Close Fire Station Sunday to Start Vacations

Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger today served city officials with notice that No. 4 fire station will be closed Sunday in order to start the firemen's summer vacation schedule.

Seeburger said the action, which would free four men to fill in at the other stations while two firemen are off during the coming three months, was taken after council failed to fill his request for four temporary firemen.

The station, located on Newman street, almost in the heart of the industrial district, is manned by four men who work alternate shifts.

Closing of the house will make it necessary for central company located in the city building, or company No. 2, located on North Main street, to answer all calls in the Fifth Ward district.

Council's finance committee which has had the chief's request for the past six weeks has argued that the city's general fund cannot be taxed the $1,700 necessary to hire four additional men for three months.

They have asked the firemen's pension board to transfer the amount from it's surplus to provide the funds, but the board which received an opinion from City Solicitor Marion D. Ward, ruling such a transfer illegal has not yet replied to the committee.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said this morning that he had not yet had time to study the chief's vacation schedule and "doubted" whether Seeburger had the authority to retire any fire equipment to give firemen their vacations.

HOUSE VOTES APPROVAL OF DEFENSE BILL

Final Preparedness Measure Goes to Senate After Overwhelming O. K.

DOUBLE-QUICK ACTION

Capitol Hill Hears Reports of 'Excellent Progress' on Aid to Allies.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The senate got the last of the record-making $5,021,619,622 preparedness bills today as Capitol Hill heard reports of "excellent progress" toward further aid to the Allies in planes, munitions and possibly destroyers.

The final big defense measure —an extraordinary $1,706,053,908 appropriation for both army and navy purposes—bore the overwhelming approval of a 401-to-1 house vote.

Double-quick senate action was a foregone conclusion, once the legislation clears the appropriations committee.

House passage of the bill late yesterday shared legislative attention with the senate's refusal to sanction voluntary military training for civilian conservation corps enrollees—something which the army high command declined to endorse.

The action was viewed in some quarters as an indication that the senate would not favor nationwide compulsory military training at this time.

The senate did vote, however, to give the CCC training for noncombatant activities, a program which army officers said would make the corps a valuable military auxiliary in a national agency.

James J. McEntee, CCC director, said that a staff of 1,500 experts probably would be drawn from industrial sources to instruct the 300,000 enrollees in communications, photography, and machine shop trades.

In the field of aid for the Allies, congress heard the first suggestion that men as well as materials be permitted to go abroad as reinforcements. Rep. Celler (D. N. Y.) offered a bill to repeal the ban on American enlistments in foreign armies.

Introduction of the bill coincided with a forecast in New York that its early approval was likely. Vladimir Jabotinsky, president of the World New Zionist organization, coupled the forecast with an assertion that most of the 100,000 American Jews of military age were not only ready to fight for the Allies, but were negotiating for the opportunity with authorities in London, Paris, Ottawa and Washington.

The campaign for material aid to the Allies proceded on numerous fronts.

The chief Allied purchasing agent, Arthur B. Purvis, disclosed

WPA Finishes Water Lines, State to Open Bids on Paving Saturday.

City officials today awaited opening of bids by the state highway department Saturday that will set in motion the paving of West Fourth street.

WPA workmen this morning were putting the finishing touches on the water line project on the street and within the next couple days will complete cleaning up debris left in the roadway.

City Engineer W. C. Statler said state highway officials had already been informed that re-

KILLED BY TRAIN

Freight Passes Over Shelby Man Laying on Tracks.

SHELBY — Frank E. Reynolds, 38, was killed instantly at 10 a. m. today when a fast freight passed over him as he lay across the tracks of the B. and O. three miles south of here.

It was believed that Reynolds, who had been picking wild strawberries along the track, became ill and fell on the track. The engineer saw him, but was unable to rouse him with the whistle or stop the train in time.

He was born in Shelby April 23, 1902. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Martha Reynolds, a daughter, Virginia Ann, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reynolds, and two brothers and three sisters, Roscoe and Delphos Reynolds, Mrs. Velma Jowil, Mrs. Florence Stoffer and Miss Evelyn Reynolds, all of Shelby.

The body was brought to the Barkdull funeral home.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The interstate commerce commission said today that the wreck on April 19 of the Lake Shore Limited at Little Falls, N. Y., in which 31 persons were killed, was caused by the train's excessive speed on a curve.

French Troops Fight Fiercely To Hold Paris

Germans Prepare Ultimatum Broadcast Of 'Surrender Or Be Destroyed' as Attack Continues on Three Sides Of Famous Capital City.

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—Reliable although unofficial sources said tonight that the French, through United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt, have advised Germany that all troops have been removed from Paris.

BULLETIN

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE—(INS)—Paris will not be defended, the French war ministry announced today. "Paris will be defended from the north. But if we are driven back, our lines will be reformed south of the city. We will not fight in Paris."

(By Associated Press)

Fiercely counter-attacking French troops swept the nearest German invaders back five miles in the narrowing siege of Paris today, the French war ministry stated.

Simultaneously, the German high command was reported preparing to broadcast a "surrender or be destroyed" ultimatum against the beautiful French capital.

In Berlin, a Nazi spokesman said German troops were only as far from the heart of Paris as Zehlendorf is from the center of Berlin. Zehlendorf is a Berlin suburb, about eight miles out.

The French, however, said the nearest German soldiers were now 25 miles from the French capital.

Nazi armies were attacking the "last ditch" defenders of Paris from three sides.

The German demand for capitulation, Berlin reported, would follow the procedure in the case of Warsaw, capital of Poland, and Rotterdam, capital of Holland.

Warsaw, refusing to surrender, was bombed and shelled to ruins. Rotterdam capitulated in time to save much of the city.

Berlin asserted the fate of Paris would probably be decided "within the next hours."

The Nazi high command said operations along the entire front were "progressing rapidly" and that columns of the main German army of 2,000,000 men had captured Chalons-Sur-Marne, about 25 miles south of the great French cathedral city of Reims.

The Germans asserted Reims already had fallen. The French denied it.

With flames of the main conflict spreading, Turkey reaffirmed her pledges of mutual military assistance to the Allies and dismissed Premier Mussolini's offer to respect her neutrality as "worthless."

Egypt, too, verged on joining the battle. The ancient kingdom of the Nile placed all its communication systems, air and naval bases and ports at the disposal of Great Britain, and promised the "greatest possible assistance" in the war against Italy.

Britain rushed thousands of fresh troops, tanks and guns to bolster the hard-driven French defenders of Paris. Premier Reynaud of France dramatically announced that the French if necessary would withdraw to their African possessions—even their American possessions—to carry on the war against Germany.

His statement apparently doomed German hopes that

APPEAL: Reynaud Asks Public Statement By Roosevelt on Aid

(By Associated Press)

TOURS, France—An appeal by Premier Reynaud to President Roosevelt for a public declaration that the United States would give all aid to the Allies save an expeditionary force and to send the help "before it is too late" was disclosed today.

The premier declared that the French would, if need be, shut themselves up in one of their provinces, or go to North Africa or even to possessions in America to carry on the fight against Germany.

The appeal was conveyed in a message to Mr. Roosevelt, dated June 10—the day Italy declared war on France and Great Britain and the day that the president, in his Charlottesville, Va., speech promised material aid for the Allies.

The text of the message was issued here and in the United States by agreement between the premier and the president, an official announcement said. Tours is one of the present seats of the French government.

The premier asked the president to tell Americans that "we are resolved to sacrifice ourselves in the struggle we are leading for all free men."

President Roosevelt was said to have replied to the appeal, saying that "surely 90 per cent" of the world which wants to live in peace "can and must find a way to make their will prevail."

Reynaud said he realized the gravity of any gesture by the United States in sending aid "before it is too late."

The premier recalled the Roosevelt statement of Oct. 5, 1937, in which the president said that the liberty, peace and security of 90 per cent of the world were imperiled by the other 10 per cent.

REGISTRATIONS FOR ELECTION GROW RAPIDLY

Voting 5 Months Away But County's Already Getting Ready For It.

Although the presidential election is nearly five months away, the Richland county election board is already preparing for it, and with registrations coming in rapidly, election officials look for a record vote in November.

The registration period will be open until Oct. 7, or 28 days before election, and by that time the election board expects a total registration of more than 19,000 Mansfielders, more than the peak of two years ago. Approximately 16,000 voters are registered now.

Registration is required of new residents in the city, persons who will reach voting age before election days, women who have married since they voted the last time, and persons who have failed to vote at the last two general elections.

Address changes must also be reported to the election board before the registration deadline.

Ballots for the November election cannot be ordered until the secretary of state approves the county tickets and indicates how the names shall be placed on the ballot.

A move is now under way to separate the national and state tickets in November and if the proposal is approved by the state legislature, names of the presidential candidates will appear on one ballot and those of the state and county candidates on another.

Walter Underwood, deputy clerk of the election board, was preparing today to destroy the thousands of ballots cast in the primary election May 14. Under the state law, the marked ballots must be kept for 30 days after election and then burned.

EAT LIZARDS AT HOME ONLY

And Not So Long Ago Kansans Faced 'Grasshopper Duty.'

TOPEKA, Kas.—(AP)—It is legal to banquet on snakes, lizards, centipedes, scorpions and other reptiles at home, but it's against the law to eat 'em in public in Kansas.

The oddity was discovered by Franklin Corrick while revising state statutes. The law provides a penalty of from 30 days to nine months in jail or a $25 fine.

Until 1925 a law authorized mayors and township trustees to conscript "all able-bodied male persons between the ages of 12 and 65 for the purpose of destroying locusts or migratory grasshoppers." The law was enacted in 1877 but eliminated in 1925.

ESCAPES FINE

DETROIT—(U.P.)—Traffic Judge George T. Murphy has given tacit approval to people who hurry in belief they're safeguarding United States secrets.

James Gordon, an engineer who said he had access to navy blueprints, was taken into court on a charge of reckless driving, as was John Chisholm. Gordon explained he speeded when Chisholm's car chased his, fearing spies were after him. Chisholm said he was only angry because Gordon tooted his horn in traffic.

Judge Murphy found Gordon innocent, but said Chisholm must pay a $50 fine or serve 10 days in jail.

Mansfield Plays at Fairground Tonight

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—This is written as I gaze toward the mantlepiece at the gold loving cup presented to me last December for being the most non-skeptical sport writer of 1939.

Everyone knows that I am no snoop. I keep my nose out of other people's business and I strictly adhere to the theory of live and let live. But today I'm going to change my ways. I want to inquire just why the white flanneled fathers of the United States Lawn Tennis association happened to pick 1940 as the year to enforce the eight-week expense rule.

Now if I were a snoop at heart, I would say flatly there might be some tie-up between the sudden enforcement of this regulation and the fact that the European war has eliminated Davis cup competition from the 1940 tennis schedule. But if I did that I might have to give back my loving cup. So instead of saying it flatly, I'm merely going to hint it.

From my mantlepiece it looks as if the U. S. L. T. A. action was simply another expression of the working of the law of supply and demand. Last year there was a great deal of demand but not much of a supply. The United States was challenged by the Australian Davis cup team and a Davis cup match meant gold in the U. S. L. T. A coffers Plenty of gold.

So the word was passed around that anything went. The association needed strong players and every man, youth and boy with two arms and a change of rackets was coddled like an Indian princling. The stratosphere was the limit. No food was too good, no linen too fine for the representatives of Uncle Sam

But now, things are a great deal different There will be no Davis cup matches this year nor perhaps next year or ever 1942. The demand is no longer there. So what happens? So the U. S. L. T. A. cracks the eight-week whip. From now on no player will be permitted to have his expenses paid for more than eight weeks of competition each year. From now on the push gravy circuits in Bermuda, Florida, Long Island and Newport will be almost closed to the boys who can't pay their way when their eight-week allotment is used up.

Actually, this action will lead only to new subterfuges. Tennis players never have paid their own way except in a few isolated cases. What does the new regulation mean?

* * *

It means first of all that the U. S. L. T. A. isn't in need of good box office draws this year. Instead of staying at hotels players will live at the home of mythical "aunts" or "cousins" on the outskirts of town Within a year every case-hardened tournament player will have "relatives" in every tennis town.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

HEROES — Charley Keller, Yanks whose 3-run homer beat the Tigers Whit Wyatt, Dodgers who pitched a full nine innings as a relief man to trim the Pirates

GOATS—Thornton Lee, White Sox who gave only three hits but two of them were homers and the Athletics beat him Al Milnar, Indians who blew a two run lead in the eighth to the Red Sox

Braves Drop Another Game Behind Leaders By Losing 9-1 Decision to Oilers.

MANSFIELD is six full games out of first place in the Ohio State league race today as they prepare to meet the pace-making Findlay Oilers at the Fairground before a "Ladies' night" gathering at 8:15 p. m.

Bob Arnold or George Laurila, righthanders, will get the call to face the league leaders, who last night thumped the Braves by a 9 to 1 count at Findlay.

Pilot Dewey Stover, seeking to cut down the rampaging Oilers' advantage, sent Tony Scotti against Findlay last night, but his wildness was one of the principal factors in the setback.

Scotti, who joined the Braves last week, issued seven walks, threw four wild pitches and was charged with a balk as Findlay made nine hits count for as many runs.

The Mansfield moundsman held the Oilers scoreless for two frames, but Findlay tallied twice in the third to take a lead that was never threatened as Don May scattered seven blows to the Braves.

A walk, single, wild pitch and a long fly accounted for the two Findlay markers in the third. Five singles and a triple gave the Oilers four more tallies in the sixth.

Mansfield, held at bay by the little southpaw, managed to push over a run in the eighth on a walk, infield out and Dick Morse's only single.

Findlay added a run in the seventh and two more in the eighth to put the contest on ice.

Mansfield, however, didn't lose any ground in holding third place as Tiffin lost a 7 to 5 decision to Fremont. Lima retained its second place advantage by whitewashing last-place Fostoria, 6 to 0, behind Biscan's five-hit hurling.

Hal Hundemer, Mansfield second baseman, led the losers at the plate with a double and single. He was the only Brave to secure more than one hit.

The Braves invade Lima Friday night and return to the Fairground to clas with the Pandas under the floodlights at 8.15 p. m. Saturday

TONY ZALE KNOCKS OUT BABY KID CHOCOLATE

Indians Send Smith Against Detroit Club

Southpaw Will Be After His Sixth Win; Tribe Loses To Boston.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Trade winds whipped around the Cleveland Indians' tepee today as the Tribe came home from an inglorious eastern invasion to meet the Detroit Tigers in a game postponed from an earlier date.

Al Smith, seeking his sixth victory, drew the assignment to check the Indians' three-game losing streak — their longest of the season. Schoolboy Rowe, winner of four straight, was the Tigers' mound choice.

Still trying to bolster its pitching department, Cleveland officials will talk trade with Jack Zeller, Tigers' general manager.

Such talks between the clubs' officials aren't new. There have been several this season, but so far they have been as unproductive as the proposal that would send Ben Chapman to Detroit for Pitcher Al Benton and Outfielder Pete Fox.

C. C. Slapnicka, Indians' vice president, said "feelers" also had been sent to other clubs in an effort to make a deal before the Saturday major league trading deadline. At the same time, he disclosed Cleveland would not have the aid of Pitcher Nate Andrews, purchased Monday from the St. Louis Browns, for several more days.

The Boston Red Sox completed their humbling of the Indians yesterday, giving the tribe its eighth defeat, 9 to 5, in its 13-game eastern tour.

Although they outhit the Sox 13-11, the Indians were unable to bunch their hits effectively except in the sixth when a three-run attack blasted Mickey Harris from the mound.

Derringer Gets Back Into Stride

Hurler Pitching Same Easy Way; Defeats Phillies 2 to 1.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Sit back and relax. Paul Derringer is in the old stride.

He may have lost four games this year so far, against seven for all 1939, but that's ancient history and the big fellow who came out of Kentucky now has five straight victories for a total of eight. He's pitching the same old easy way, liberal with hits but stingy with runs and walks.

The Philadelphia Phillies were the latest to find it out. He gave them eight hits last night but only two, Chuck Klein's single and Morrie Arnovich's triple in the fourth, added up to anything and that wasn't enough. The Cincinnati Reds took it, 2 to 1, for their second one-run victory over Kirby Higbe.

A double by Frank McCormick, his 13th of the year, a wild pitch, and a long fly by Ernie Lombardi produced the first Red run in the second inning.

Bill Werber's looping double, a sacrifice, and another fly made the other run in the next inning.

Derringer's 10th complete game of the season is a good piece of evidence that Paul is pitching the 1940 games in 1940. When he lost those four games there were raised eyebrows and talk along the curbstones. You couldn't pick it up now with mouse ears.

Portsmouth on Way to First

Turn in 3rd Straight. Down Charleston, 7-6.

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — The Portsmouth Red Birds, who have made two complete trips up and down the Mid-Atlantic league standing ladder since the first of the season, seem to be on the comeback trail again.

The Red Birds, still in last place but only three and a half games behind the league-leading Canton Terriers, turned in their third straight victory last night, downing Charlston 7 to 6.

Chet Kehn pitched Dayton to a six-hit 4 to 2 win over Youngstown. Bill Burich's triple in the eighth driving in three runs.

Rain at Canton postponed the Akron-Canton contest.

Today's schedule: Youngstown at Dayton (2), Charleston at Portsmouth (2), Akron at Canton.

RACE DRIVER INJURED IN CRACK-UP AT FORT MIAMI

TOLEDO —(AP)— Bob Swanson, 27, automobile race driver from Englewood, Calif., was injured critically last night as his midget car skidded on a curve and overturned three times in a qualifying time trial at Fort Miami track, near here.

He was taken unconscious to a hospital at nearby Perrysburg, O. Attendants reported he received a possible skull fracture and chest injuries

SIGN RIGHT-HANDER

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Despite "stiff competition" from other major league teams, the Pittsburgh Pirates announced today they had signed J. Addis Copple, right-handed pitcher who recently graduated from Washington college, Chestertown, Md.

Dodgers Add Outfield Star

Brooklyn Secures Medwick Just In Time to Greet Redlegs Today.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

THE BROOKLYN DODGERS, who already had everything else, now have Joe Medwick. And if they don't have the National league pennant come October it will be because there's no water in the Gowanus canal or money in the Brooklyn Trust company.

The Flatbushers are in first place and it's no fluke. They have won nine of their last 11 games and never have been worse than second since the day the season opened.

No great imagination is needed to figure where a club that strong will go with the addition of the league's outstanding outfielder, who never has hit less than .300 in his life, and a pitcher who won 22 games just last season.

Curt Davis, whom the Dodgers obtained yesterday from St. Louis along with Medwick for four players and cash, may prove of as great value as Medwick. The Dodgers were on the verge of a pitching shortage and last night at Pittsburgh designated Lefty Vito Tamulis as a front-rank starter.

He gave up four hits and hit one batter for three Pittsburgh runs without ever getting a Pirate out in the first inning. Then Whitlow Wyatt took charge and allowed only five hits for the remainder of the game and the Dodgers ultimately triumphed 5 to 4.

This victory was enough to keep Brooklyn out in front of the Cincinnati Reds, who edged out the Philadelphia Phillies, 2-1, in another night game.

The triumphs by the Dodgers and Reds set a showy stage for the four-game series those two teams will open in Brooklyn tomorrow. The spectacle may even surpass the similar American league pageant just completed at Boston, where the Red Sox decided for the time being the mastery of the junior circuit.

Medwick

After routing Bob Feller on Tuesday, the Red Sockers yesterday chased Southpaw Al Milnar, the league's leading pitcher, with a six-run eighth inning that brought victory 9-5. The sweep of the two-game series put Boston two full games ahead of the Indians and a similar distance in front of the second place Detroit Tigers, who were beaten by the New York Yankees 7-5.

Like the Red Sox, the Yankees had to come from behind to win, but proved themselves capable when Charley Keller blasted a three-run homer in the seventh inning. The Tigers had belted Marvin Breuer for five hits and four runs in the first two innings, but ran afoul of the relief hurling of Bump Hadley, who gave only two hits in the last seven frames.

The Philadelphia Athletics took a strange test from the Chicago White Sox 3-2. The A's were held to three hits by Thornton Lee, but two of these were home runs by Bob Johnson and Sam Chapman. Johnson's came with one on.

* * *

The Washington Senators edged out the St. Louis Browns by the same score, 3-2, on the six-hit pitching of Ken Chase, who was the only southpaw that had any luck all day.

Sarazen Challenges Ryder Cup Team for Tournament

Picks Rival Players

Will Play Classic For Red Cross Benefit; Gene Is Captain.

By FRITZ HOWELL

TOLEDO—(AP)—It looks as if the American Ryder Cup golf team, euchred out of its match with England by the war, will see action after all. The 10-man team will play for the British, not against them, if plans formulated today materialize.

Gene Sarazen, stocky veteran who lost the National Open in Sunday's playoff with Lawson Little at Cleveland, counted off 10 professionals on his fingers and said:

"Now there's a team that could give our Ryder Cup team a trimming, and we hereby issue a challenge, with all the receipts to go to the Red Cross."

Walter Hagen, who has captained every one of the U. S. Ryder Cup teams, accepted the defy. Fred Corcoran, tournament manager for the Professional Golfers association, hopped into action, wiring four cities to ask for bids on the proposed match.

"The event is definitely on," Corcoran said. "We want to hold it before July 15, and we should have the definite site within a couple of days."

Sarazen named himself as playing captain of the challengers, and backed himself up with Little, the brand new National Open king; Ed Oliver, Jimmy Demaret, Ben Hogan, Clayton Haefner, Craig Wood, Lloyd Mangrum, Jimmy Thomson and Tommy Armour.

Sarazen said he had talked with each of the other nine, and all were eager to play.

The challenge was issued and accepted today as 16 of the country's top flight professionals teed off for the first round of the sixth annual Inverness invitational four-ball tournament.

Pairings for the opening round matches. Demaret-Metz vs. McSpaden-Little; Smith-Thomson vs. Sarazen-Haefner; Picard-Revolta vs Ed Dudley-Burke; Snead-Guldahl vs. Nelson-Hagen.

News-Journal Ladies Golf League Opens

NEWS-JOURNAL Ladies' golf league competition will open Friday at Possum Run with four teams ready for the tee-off, officials of the league announced today.

* * *

Schedule for tomorrow is: Golden Russell vs. De Milo Salon and Meder Recreation vs. Bates Candies. Eighteen holes will be played.

* * *

Last year six teams were entered in the league race, this year the number has dropped to four. Last year's champion, Guher's Grocery, is one of the teams which dropped out of the league this season.

* * *

STELLA WALSH SETS NEW MARK IN 60-YARD DASH

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Stella Walsh, 28, Cleveland track star, holds another world's record. She ran 60 yards in seven seconds flat at a sports congress for Polish relief here yesterday, trimming four-tenths of a second from the mark set a decade ago by Helen Kilkey of Chicago.

May Abandon Last Year's 'Staggered' Hunt Season

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Pheasant hunting season this fall probably will open Nov. 15 and close Nov. 30, abandoning last year's staggered season which banned shooting the first three days of each week.

* * *

Don Waters, conservation commissioner, said there was a "definite sentiment" among farmers against the broken season and that the Ohio commission of conservation and natural resources felt their views could not be ignored since they provided the hunting grounds.

The system, inaugurated last year as an experiment, extended the customary 15 days of hunting over a period of three weeks.

The commission tentatively decided to allow rabbit hunting Nov. 15 to Jan. 1, inclusive, with the bag limit remaining at four a day. The daily bag limit for cock pheasants probably will remain at two.

The squirrel season probably will be set for Sept. 25 to Oct. 10, inclusive, with the daily bag limit being four and the possession limit eight.

Daily partridge and grouse take will be fixed at four and two, respectively, during the Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 period.

* * *

The commission also decided to cut 15 days off the raccoon season, which will be Dec. 1 to Jan. 15.

FAMOUS GOLF OFFICIAL DIES IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—George A. Orminston, 66, a leading figure in western Pennsylvania golfing circles for many years, died yesterday. He was secretary of the western Pennsylvania Gold association for a quarter century and won the West Penn amateur championship in 1899, the first year it was held. His survivors include a son, Kenneth, freshman football coach at the University of Miami.

Schedule for the Y. M. C. A. Independent Class "A" softball league for tonight are: Wemco vs. All State Freight at North Lake park, Mansfield Wreckers vs. Tinkey Lumber at Liberty park, Safety Cabs vs. Alta Lumber at Blue Goose field, and Wesco vs. Tavernettes at Davey field.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK —(AP)— The war has American colleges up in air Most of them have next fall's football tickets printed, but are afraid to distribute them until they know if the tax is going to be upped.

* * *

The wolves out in St. Louis have hurled so many pop bottles at umpires recently, the concessionaires have been ordered to serve refreshments in paper cups only . . . Brooklyn expects to pop a deal with an eastern club (Boston?) before the June 15 trading deadline

CALL THE COPS.

They're about to arrest Ivan Upson, manager of an Arkansas City (Kans.) team for hunting out of season . . . the other night Upson was hitting fly balls to his infielders . . . one fly went directly into a flock of birds passing over the park and one bird dropped—stone dead.

Sports writers traveling with the Tigers credit Dick Barteli, one of the game's best holler guys, with making the team a contender . . . papers around the country are blasting Jack Dempsey's proposed bout with Cowboy Luttrell, in Atlanta, say it would add exactly nothing to Dempsey's prestige . . some of the boys are dipping the Cubs in hot water again for paying Dizzy Dean's salary while he tries to come back and refusing to pay Clay Bryant's . . . of course, Bryant only won 19 games and the flag in 1938.

IT DIDN'T WORK.

Mrs George Caster, wife of the Athletic pitcher, was much perturbed over George's failure to get going . so when she came east from California last week she brought George one of the shoes Seabiscuit wore the day he won the Santa Anita handicap . . . P. S.: Caster lost his next start

Doctors say Arturo Godoy is in better trim than in the first Louis fight, if that means anything . . . Freddie Fitzsimmons is only three wins short of his goal of 200 National league triumprs.

Manager Asks New Referee

Says Donovan Has Already 'Voted' Against Godoy.

NEW YORK—(U P)—Manager Al Weill demanded today that the boxing commission refrain from appointing Arthur Donovan as referee for the Louis-Godoy championship battle a week from tonight, because Donovan already has "voted in print" against challenger Godoy

In his written demand, Weill charged that Donovan "passed judgment" on the fight in an article appearing under his name in this week's issue of a national magazine.

Weill took this action because it seemed virtually certain that Donovan would officiate Donovan refereed all 14 of Joe Louis' previous New York fights and one in Cleveland

OFFICIALS IMPRESSED

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Athletic officials of Tennessee and Fordham reported they were "favorably impressed" by the 80,000-seat Cleveland stadium as a possible site for a football game between the universities Nov. 15, 1941.

Lawyer Needs Lawyer.

When a young attorney finds himself with two wives on his honeymoon, he also finds he needs more than law books to help him out of the situation. This is the predicament that Cary Grant is in in "My Favorite Wife." Complications of the comedy concern the plight of a lawyer whose long missing wife, declared legally dead, returns on the night of his honeymoon with wife No. 2. Irene Dunne is the first and Gail Patrick, the second. The picture is showing at the Ohio.

Another Drummond Series.

Pursuit of a daring bank robber from England to France provides "Bulldog Drummond," famous film sleuth, with one of his most exciting adventures in "Bulldog Drummond's Bride." John Howard plays the role of the famous detective and Heather Angel is the long-suffering fiancee. The H. C. McNeile story unfolds when a daring bank robbery is committed in London, and Drummond goes on the case in spite of his promise to marry Heather. The co-feature at the Park is "Heroes of the Saddle" starring the three mesquiteers.

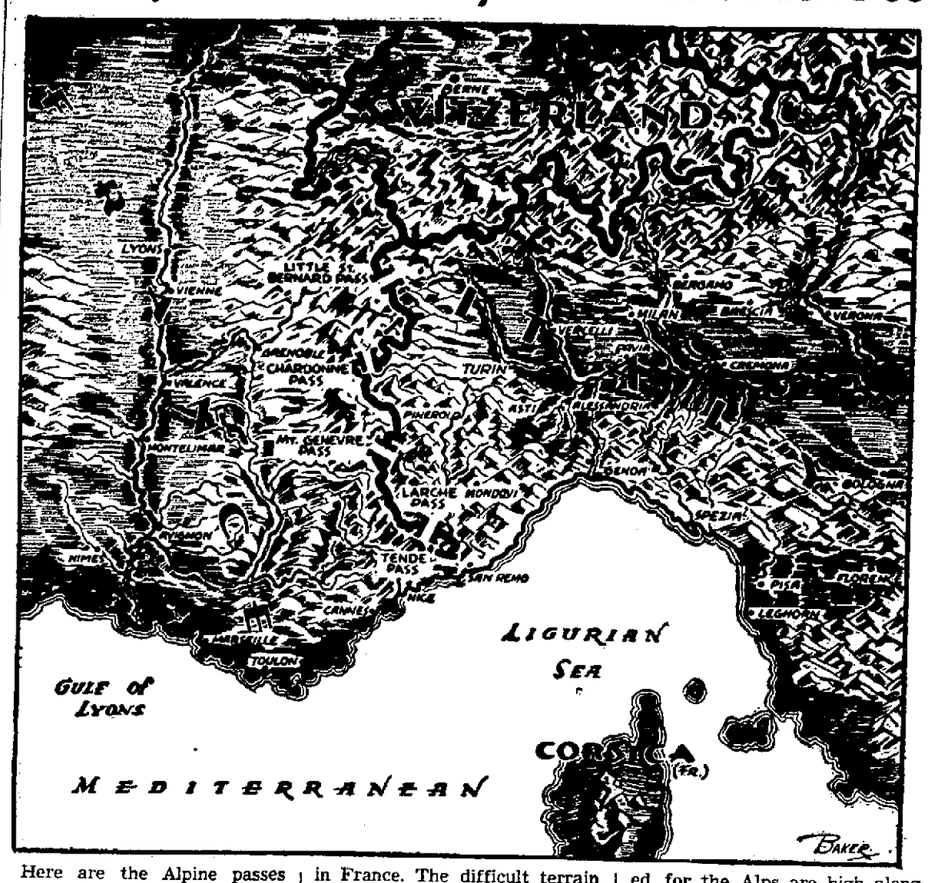
Touching Human Dramas.

"Our Neighbors-the Carters," starring Fay Bainter, Frank Craven, Genevieve Tobin and Edmund Lowe, begins Friday at the Majestic. This is a human drama of a family what must decide whether to part with one of its youngest in order to keep the rest of the brood together. The co-feature is "Prairie Law," with George O'Brien, Virginia Vale and Dick Hogan.

The Alpine Passes---Keys to France's Back Door



Here are the Alpine passes through which the Italian forces must battle to gain a foothold in France. The difficult terrain through which the Roman armies must march are also indicated, for the Alps are high along the French border. Italy's only other direct route to France is across the Ligurian Sea.

WANTS REWARD

Discovers Notorious Indian Who Killed 20; But He's Mummy.

BOULDER CITY, Nev.—(U.P.)—An Indian corpse, mummified in the dry air of a southwestern desert cave, was discovered near here. It may be the body of Queho, notorious Indian outlaw, who was blamed for 20 murders between 1909 and 1919.

At one time there was a price of $3,000 on his head. Charles M. Kenyon, one of the discoverers, raised the question of whether, even at this date, he is not entitled to the reward.

METERS SOLVE ZANESVILLE'S TRAFFIC ILLS

Mansfield Officials Informed Plan Takes Away 75 Per Cent of Congestion.

now being made to set up additional parking meter zones.

"They have solved three-fourths of the traffic problem, in particular eliminating the hazard of double parking," Police Chief C. H. Courtney commented. Where he had four and five men checking parking two years ago, a single motorcycle officer now does the complete job, the chief said.

Charles Ross, city market master, who has supervised the maintenance of the meters, said a large percentage of parking is done on "free time." As many as 10 autos have been known to park in the same space before the expiration of the one-hour alloted for deposit of a nickel.

"The time was paid for, though, so what difference does it make to the city," he asked.

Ross asserted that sentiment in Zanesville now is as strongly in favor of the parking meters as it was against them when installed. "There would be a battle if we attempted to take them out now," he said.

A manager of a truck delivery service said his firm got around town to merchants in half the time they did before the machines were installed

"They did more to relieve congestion and double parking by truck drivers than anything this city ever tried," he said.

The majority of merchants who protested that the meters would "make shoppers pay for the privlege of coming to town" have been "won over" a survey showed.

A cross-section of opinion revealed:

Bus Driver—"Parking meters help us to maintain our schedules."

Haberdashery proprietor—"They accommodate the quick shopper."

Druggist—"Personally, I don't like them because I can't park outside all day, but they help business."

Shoe store manager—"They're a convenience to my customers."

Department store clerk—Parking meters brought about enforcement of the downtown parking ordinances through their revenue."

Dentist—They have relieved Saturday night congestion in this 'Saturday night' town."

Jeweler—"They keep loafing motorists off the streets and give the people who want to come in and buy something a chance to find parking space."

Grocer—"Even the salesmen can now find a place to park."

Talk of parking meters in this manufacturing city of 40,000, comparable to Mansfield with its industrial and farming sections, started among city officials in February 1938. A survey was made of meters in other cities.

Mechanics of several types of machines were discussed with clock makers and 199 of the one-hour automatic type were installed at the cost of $56.50 each in the central business district.

That was in August of the same year. Complaints and protests were countered with the assertion: "They're on a three-month trial." By January 1939 the city had been "converted," officials said and 94 additional meters for two-hour parking were installed. Two other additions have been made since.

Ross said maintenance last year totaled $596, and that repairs are made by city employes with parts furnished by the manufacturer. Concerning difficulties, he asserted that there is only an average of two "slugs" in a $600 weekly collection. There has been no "hijacking" of the meters and neither has there been trouble from children sticking pennies or matches in them.

One police officer, riding a three-wheeled motorcycle, handles traffic in the meter zones and another employe winds them and makes the collections, the containers going directly to the bank where the money is counted and turned over to the city's general fund.

A courtesy is extended out-of-towners who may park over the limit or fail to deposit a nickel. The patrolman leaves a red tag on the car requesting that instead of reporting to the police department, they deposit a nickel in the meter.

Habitual overtime parkers among the city's residents are fined $1.

Zanesville, which was the second city in Ohio to install the meters today is still the only central Ohio city that has them. Toledo was first and Cleveland recently purchased them while Akron and Columbus have them under consideration.

With $26,025 anticipated revenue from the meters during 1940, this is the way the Zanesville council has set up the distribution of the funds: Inspection, $1,500; police payroll, $20,200; debt retirement, $3,325; maintenance and incidentals, $1,000.

DRIVES AWAY HIS CUSTOMER

Prospective Buyer Goes Right Out Through Big Window.

BUTTE, Mont. —(AP)—One way to drive a customer right out of the salesroom is the way William Corbett, car salesman, used.

"How's the motor?" inquired a prospect sitting in the driver's seat of a salesfloor sample.

"Try it" generously suggested Corbett.

The customer stepped on the starter. The car scooted right through the plate glass window.

Panama Planning Census In Single Day of Counting

PANAMA CITY, R. P.—(INS)—The Republic of Panama will conduct a census of its more than 500,000 inhabitants within a period of one day by legally forcing all citizens to remain indoors until counted and interviewed, according to plans made public by Ernesto Mendez, Secretary of Labor, Commerce and Industry.

The whirlwind census will take place on September 8, when, by virtue of governmental orders, the entire Republic will be at a virtual standstill until the count is completed.

Regulations call for every resident of the Republic to remain in his home on Census day until he has answered thirty-six questions and is given a card reading "Empadronado," which means counted. Without this card, it will be illegal to leave one's residence either afoot or in an automobile or other conveyance, under penalty of governmental punishment. Thousands of special enumerators, recruited from the ranks of the Republic's school teachers, will be employed by the government.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that Edward L. Ripley, Treasurer of The Christian Science Pleasant View Home, has filed his Petition in the Common Pleas Court of Richland County, Ohio, Case Number 25300, praying for confirmation of the sale and conveyance of real estate owned by said Corporation described as follows:

JUDGE PUFFLE By Gene Ahern

BEING COLOR BLIND, I DIDN'T KNOW TH' FIRST CAN OF PAINT WAS GREEN, THAT I KICKED OVER!— GREEN LOOKS RED TO ME, SO THAT'S WHY I BOUGHT A CAN OF RED PAINT!
I'M USED TO PAINTIN' IN RED! —I DID FIRE PLUGS AN' ALARM BOXES FOR TWO YEARS!— AN' THEN I RUN TH' RED STRIPES AROUND BARBER POLES, BUT I HAD TO QUIT BECAUSE I WAS GETTIN' TH' SPIRAL STAGGERS WHEN I WALKED!—
PAH!—THE CHAIRS WOULD HAVE BEEN DONE HOURS AGO IF YOU WAGGED THE BRUSH AS MUCH AS YOUR CHIN!
NOW THEY'LL BE SLOWLY PAINTED RED

ADOPTED HIPPO

LONDON—(AP)—Anyone is welcome to play foster-parent to a strapping young hippopotamus in the London zoo for the duration of war—providing he pays about $4.45 weekly for the animal's upkeep.

A sleek young giraffe can be adopted for $2.23 weekly, or a porcupine for about 22 cents per week. Labels bearing the adopter's name are fixed to their cages. About 230 animals have been already adopted.

STOCK MARKET CONFUSED BY WAR REPORTS

Issues Tumble Fractions to Two Points In Trading on Wall Street.

NEW YORK — Confusion over the rapidly shifting tides of war in Europe toppled stocks fractions to more than 2 points today, shaving part of the gains made in Wednesday's sharp rally.

At Chicago wheat at one time fell to the official minimums. Corn was weak.

Cooling bullish ardor, brokers said, was the encirclement of Paris by the Nazis and fears a separate peace might be forced on the French. The bulge in home industry remained a sustaining influence.

Bonds and commodities were a bit mixed. "Free" sterling and the French franc gave ground.

Giving ground in the share list were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Anaconda, Westinghouse, General Electric, Western Union, Standard Oil of N. J. and Goodyear.

Classmates of Lorain Girl Plan Mass Meeting.

LORAIN — (AP) — Classmates of pretty Velma Erickson, 16-year-old Lorain high school honor graduate, today planned a mass meeting in an effort to turn up a clue in her mysterious death.

Friends and police want to learn first the identity of a youth who took Miss Erickson and a friend, Ruth Ford, 18, for an automobile ride a few hours before the younger girl died of a skull fracture yesterday.

that the government had promised France and Britain "an opportunity to buy more surplus war materials."

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, reported that the war department was making "excellent progress" in an inventory of supplies which might be declared surplus.

Ninety-three attack planes traded in to their manufacturer, resold to the Allies, already were started toward the Canadian border for delivery. Millions of dollars worth of munitions, their nature not itemized, also has been made available under the trade-in method.

Early also announced that the army was turning over between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 worth of its reserve manufacturing equipment to firms working on Allied ammunition orders.

The machinery would expedite the start of mass deliveries by two or three months, early estimated, and at the same time expand plants' capacities to produce munitions for the national defense.

DEATH CLAIMS NOBLE KIZER

Purdue Athletic Director Was Notre Dame Star.

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(AP)—Noble E. Kizer, 40, Purdue university athletic director and former football coach, died in St. Elizabeth hospital early today.

A kidney ailment three years ago forced him to give up the coaching job and take a year's vacation. Mal Elward now is coach.

Kizer was graduated in 1924 from the University of Notre Dame where he was a guard on teams which starred the late Coach Knute Rockne's famous "Four Horsemen" backfield.

The widow and two sons survive.

RICHLAND ROAD, BRIDGE WORK OPENS MONDAY

Upper Lucas, Little Washington Thoroughfares To Be First in 19-Mile Plan.

Delayed by excessive rainfall, Richland county's summer road and bridge construction program is scheduled to get under way in earnest next week if weather conditions are favorable.

Highlighting the early summer road activities will be the resurfacing of 19 miles of main county routes in six townships with bituminous material as a part of a $60,000 WPA project.

Preliminary work on the project is already underway, but County Engineer Howard Sword said, actual resurfacing probably will not begin until Monday. Workmen will start on the Upper Lucas and Little Washington road in Washington and Madison townships.

Other resurfacing work will be done in Butler, Springfield, Monroe and Mifflin townships. The resurfacing is scheduled for completion early in August and if the first project is completed on time, other roads probably will be included in the program, it was said. About 150 men will be employed.

Work has just started on a project calling for construction of 17 bridges of various lengths in all parts of the county. Workmen are busy now on two bridges in Butler and Monroe townships. The work will be financed jointly by the county and WPA.

In addition to the bridge and resurfacing projects, the county also plans to rebuild a section of the Touby road in Washington township and a road south from Lexington in Troy township.

REALLY LEARNED

COLUMBIA, Mo. —(AP)— A local farmer enclosed his farrow lots this spring with an electrified fence.

The farmer said none of his 93 pigs escaped or got mixed with a strange litter. The pigs had so much respect for the electric wire they avoided it even when the current was turned off. But when the fence was removed the farmer got his big shock. The pigs wouldn't even cross the line where the wires had been.

BEST CROP

Iowa Farmer Is Proudest of His 17 Children.

BROOKLYN, Ia.—(AP)—In spite of wars and depressions, John Kriegel and his wife are successfully rearing one of the largest families in Iowa.

In 24 years of married life the couple has had 17 children, all of whom are living. Youngest is Mary Jane, born in May; Lloyd, 23, is oldest.

Kriegel, now 46, and his wife, 42, put $12,000 in an Iowa farm in 1919, but lost it in the land depression of 1922.

"I've never been able to get very far ahead financially since," the father explains, "but I have my family."

TOMATOES BACKFIRE.

SAN FRANCISCO —(U P)— Mrs. Louisa Lamorti was the victim of a tomato jar that hit back She took the jar of tomatoes from her cupboard and tried to unscrew the cover. It stuck She then fastened her teeth on the rubber band beneath the cover and yanked. The jar broke and hospital stewards patched up the gashes on her chin after first removing the tomatoes from them.

LONDON'S 'DEAD END KIDS' TURN INTO GOOD CITIZENS

LONDON— (INS)—Evacuation is proving that the old adage "Some good always comes out of evil" is correct.

For evacuation is' helping to turn London's "Dead End Kids" into good citizens.

This is the opinion of British probation officers, who claim that evacuation of London's little roughnecks has improved their mental outlook and given them a better view of life.

Juvenile crime was expected to increase when war broke out. Instead, very few culprits are coming before the British children's magistrates.

Since the war began only one children's court has been open in London. Four more were opened last week—but only to make it easier for children to reach them.

Views of Probation Officers.

Miss Grace Beasley, senior probation officer for one of the courts, said today:

"Two-thirds of the children in my area are now back, and I am agreeably surprised at the small number of cases

"Evacuation has made a big improvement. One boy who had been giving great trouble at home, and had been put on parole, was evacuated from September to Christmas.

"He returned with a much better view of life, after seeing how other people live, and is giving no further trouble.

"This is not an isolated case, there are scores like him"

The chief inspector of schools for the London County Council, who has been investigating the effects of evacuation reports, "Children have benefited physically, mentally and socially"

SHELBY—The annual Lewis-Lybarger family reunions will be held at Union Grange hall Sunday.

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1940.

Americans are still enjoying life and liberty, but the pursuit of happiness is becoming increasingly difficult.

Stalin doesn't seem any too pleased over the possibility of the Duce taking some of the tricks.

Thrifty publishers are now casting about for a suitable symbol for "billions"—to avoid the need for using nine ciphers each time.

Can Monroe Doctrine Be Upheld?

WITH the world situation perhaps more critical than any this hemisphere ever faced before, the Monroe Doctrine assumes new importance.

This famous Doctrine, announced rather casually by President Monroe in 1823, was meant mainly for protection of the young American republics which had sprung from the Spanish-American colonies, following our revolutionary example. They copied our Constitution, which was taken, with various improvements, from the unwritten English Constitution. Monroe warned predatory foreign powers to let our sister republics alone.

In this step Monroe did not act alone. He consulted with former President Jefferson and President-to-be Adams. He also consulted with the British government and got its consent and support, through George Canning, the British foreign secretary. Britain agreed with the United States that it was for the benefit of both countries to put up "No Trespass" signs on the infant republics of Central and South America.

Ever since, the British navy has stood mutely behind ours, virtually as co-guarantor of democracy in this hemisphere. But now that chapter is ended. The British navy has its hands full, with its own problems and perils in Europe and throughout its empire. So the protection of all these American republics, weak militarily and in many cases politically, depends mainly on the United States.

Nazi Germany would gladly take care of them, and has "fifth columns" already at work for that purpose. Fortunately nearly all Latin-American countries agree that the Nazi system, at whatever cost, must be kept out of this New World.

Predicts End of Tuberculosis

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY, however uncivilized its wars, will nevertheless have some great achievements to its credit. One of these, says Dr. Henry D. Chadwick of Boston, will be the final conquest of tuberculosis.

Addressing the recent thirty-sixth annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis association, Dr. Chadwick described the progress that has already been made toward that goal and forecast complete success. In 1904, when the association was organized, the mortality rate was four times as high as it is today. If the present rate of decline in such deaths continues, he said, there should be only 32 deaths per 100,000 population in 1950, 21 in 1960, 14 in 1970 and nine or ten in 1980.

"The bells that ring in the year 2,000 may sound the deathknell of the tuberculosis germ."

The weapons in the current war against it include research, education, case-finding, prompt treatment, general health measures and specific preventive measures. None of these weapons alone would do the job. Together they may.

American Way of Life

REGARDLESS of racial origins, it is important for Americans to keep their thinking straight during the present world crisis. This means thinking which fits the character and traditions of the country of our birth or adoption. There is no need for hatred of Germany or admiration for England and France, but there is definite need for understanding of the motives behind the efforts of Hitler and Mussolini to destroy European democracies.

We believe, above everything else, in freedom under self-imposed law, in the sacred rights of individuals. We refuse to be ordered around by autocrats, and we believe that our preferred way of life makes the best kind of people. Our immigrants must believe this, else why should they come here?

In the present clash of ideals and governments around the world, we judge other nations by these standards, approving or rejecting them as their ideals and systems are friendly or hostile to ours.

Thus, although we have had our feuds with England and France, most of us can agree with the American writer who says: "The fact remains that the tattered and desperate Englishmen and Frenchmen, standing up against a deluge of death in the fields of Flanders and France, are fighting and dying not only for their own countries but for the material interests of America, for moral principles in which Americans believe, for the political concepts to which this country owes its origin and its life."

In the present Armageddon of weapons and ideals, it is well to be clear about this.

Good Building Outlook

BUILDING throughout the country has not been adversely affected by the news from Europe. Construction of houses in the medium and low-cost brackets is rising, along with the industrial construction which may be stimulated by the war.

Building supply concerns report gains of 20 per cent or more in sales today over a year ago. Some of them made record shipments in May. They expect the normal summer slump to be less noticeable this year and perhaps even to be avoided entirely.

It is hoped that this forecast will prove accurate. Americans need good homes, and many people need the jobs that are kept active by building and furnishing and providing various services for homes.

Two-Way Lessons In Cookery

A COOKING SCHOOL for honeymoon couples sounds like something new under the sun. Particularly when it is the enterprise of a summer resort hotel. A hotel at Schroon Lake, N. Y., offers this and other special attractions for newlyweds during the month of June.

Further details disclose that brides are taught to "make what their husbands like." And the bridegrooms, in turn, are taught to "like what their wives make."

If that seems a one-sided arrangement, it must be admitted that the results may be better than if both young people were given simultaneous lessons in the art of cookery.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Before he hurried off to California with his coin collections, his basifon, his czarist medals, his wife and his accordions Basil Fomeen gave a farewell party for his friends. Fomeen is a cherubic, slightly mad Russian who served with the Whites as an officer and arrived in Manhattan with exactly two cents in his pocket after the experiment failed. He smokes long, white Russian cigarettes which his mother makes for him and which he presents to his friends on all occasions.

This party, held on top of one of Manhattan's tallest hotels, turned out to be a Carpathian Mardi Gras of smoked sturgeon, caviar, smouldering-eyed girls, vodka, and champagne. The vodka was plentifully scattered around on tables in water glasses. There were also plenty of water glasses holding water, which presented a puzzling problem to late arrivals in as much as vodka and water are identical in appearance. Finally Basil made things easier for those who wished to drink water occasionally by dropping jackstraws into the vodka glasses.

IT WAS a noisy, tumultuously sentimental evening. Adia Kuznetzoff flew in from Hollywood just to lend his Russian baritone to the occasion. There was an amplifier on the floor, and a recording machine present. Every note, yell, shout, cheer, laugh, wisecrack, plus all the hum and confusion was instantly recorded and played back to this appreciative audience of newspapermen, Russian chanteuses, dancers, and just people. Through the evening a gypsy orchestra played unremittingly, and a black-eyed girl from the Ural mountains district in Russia sang passionate laments, all in Russian. Most of the songs were Basil's own. Indeed, for favors, his guests were presented with richly ornamented albums of his songs—published in Russian but carrying English translations. Some are melancholy airs, imbued with the traditional melancholy of Moscovite maidens whose Cossack lovers are off an dangerous forages. Others are light and gay. All are melodious and catchy.

And just why was Basil Fomeen pulling out from his slip in Manhattan for California?

"I'm tired of New York life Maybe I will make a great success in California. If not, I will buy me a filling station and write a symphony."

HE SAID, "See that lady with the white hat framed against the window? That is my mother. God bless her." He leaped up and ran across the floor and kissed her cheek. He drank a noisy salute to his friends, introducing first one then another over the amplifier.

"Come" shouted Basil. "let there be more sturgeon and champagne. See that lady across this table with the flower in her hair. That is my wife. God bless her." He leaped across the table and kissed her cheek. There was tumultuous applause. Just as he was saying, "That is my wife. God bless her," his own voice playing back through the amplified recording, was saying, "This is my mother. God bless her."

It was a sort of double talk, with caviar dressing, and in this room the record on the recording machine wasn't the only thing that was whirling.

Down stairs, we hailed a passing cab, waved a fond adieu to Basil, and, with a prayer for Holy Russia on our lips, climbed in and gave the driver directions for getting us home.

Health And Diet

Diet's Effect On Blood Pressure.

—By DR. CLENDENING

PEOPLE who have been told that they have high blood pressure are inclined to believe that going on a diet is, alone, enough to fix them. I suppose it is natural for them to have this kind of psychology. Voltaire said that if there were no God, we would have to invent one: the remark applies to the high blood pressure patient and his diet.

High blood pressure usually afflicts those who have lived well, who are a little, or more than a little, overweight, who enjoy the good things of the table, who have lived a gay and happy life under high pressure. When they are confronted with a verdict that something has happened to their mechanism, they naturally look back with regret on all the good times that they have had and they are inclined to ascribe their plight to their indulgences. They also thing that if they reform and live an ascetic and monastic kind of life things will be reversed.

This, as I say, is perfectly natural, but I believe their consciences need not be so troubled because I seriously doubt if their condition is due to any habits or ways of life. Nor, in my opinion, will diet alone fix them up. They must be content to lead a different kind of life and to change their habits in more particulars than one. They must be ready to take the strain off the entire system, including the strain of worry and business enterprise.

Of course, this includes diet. If they reduce activities and worry and strain, one way to do it is by reducing the number and content of exciting meals and the stimulation that goes with them.

A diet that fulfils these requirements is the so-called "neutral diet." This emphasizes an increase of the carbohydrates and starches, and a decrease of the protein, the radio being about 50 protein, 100 fat and 200 carbohydrate.

A sample diet is as follows:

Breakfast.

Apple sauce; dry oatmeal; whole wheat toast; butter; milk; cream, 20 per cent; sugar.

Dinner.

Dry, polished rice, butter; lean steak; canned green beans, butter; whole wheat bread, butter, dry tapioca, stewed prunes, sugar; cream 20 per cent; sugar.

Supper.

Dry macaroni, milk; fresh asparagus—butter; lettuce, sliced tomato, mayonnaise; whole wheat bread; butter, canned pears, milk; cream, 20 per cent; sugar.

Get a Lightning Rod!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU want to die! No, I haven't gone crazy. Nor do I think you're harboring some deadly disease—or are marked for an early exit by the Evil Eye. You may be in perfect health, with every reason for happiness. And yet—

There's a deep, unconscious current in you which is fighting life . . . seeking escape from life in endless strange and furtive ways which you, yourself, probably do not recognize.

Why do we all have "the blues"? Abandon ourselves to day dreams? Why do we grow sterile and old before our time . . . become peevish and prejudiced . . . increasingly inclined to "view with alarm" new patterns of life or thought? Why do some unfortunates take alcohol or drugs? Why do we all do "crazy things" at times? That's why—because the negative side of our natures is outranking the positive . . . because we want to die more than we want to live.

For remember, you can't do both. If you aren't living, you're dying. There's no standing still . . . no safe, serene middle condition. You're either going ahead or going back. Building your future or investing in an invisible gravestone.

Many psychiatrists now say that life is one long struggle against suicide. That may be a bit extreme, but this much is certain. There are destructive forces in all of us, forms of energy running amok—which will certainly thwart or wreck our whole careers unless controlled.

Dr. Karl A. Menninger, author of "Man Against Himself" and other psychological best-sellers, calls these dangerous elements "lighting" . . . which is probably as literal an explanation for them as one could well find, since our own urges are undoubtedly first cousins to the thunder bolts. And civilization is a protracted battle between our intelligence and these emotional mavericks.

"The healthy personality," says Dr. Menninger, "is one with a relatively small quantity of self-destructiveness . . . a personality in which self-destructiveness has been reduced to a minimum."

In others words, the really happy, safe and strong man is the one who knows and controls his own 'blitzkriegs'!

But how can you control something you can't see, don't even know exists?

BY ESTABLISHING "LIGHTNING RODS," say Dr. Menninger.

We all remember the lightning rods of our kid days, those simple, but effective deflectors of uncontrollable energy within ourselves . . . keep it from wrecking the normal structure of our lives. How come?

BY CREATING NEW INTERESTS AND OUTLETS FOR OURSELVES.

If you're "blue" . . . if you're cynical, peevish and suspicious . . . if you can't sleep or work, don't want to see folks, fight with the mwhen you do—it's because ther eis something wrong with them when you do—it's because there is something wrong (death) forces are getting the better of the constructive (life) ones. Such symptoms are as plain an evidence of a sick mind as boils are of a sick body.

So what? So get yourself a "lightning rod." Find a wholesome outlet for that churning energy . . . a healthy stimulus for that down drag. Stop kidding yourself that you won't die if you keep well and have no accidents . . . You're dying right now! And you'll be a "late lamented" long before they buy the lilies, unless you get busy right now and outsmart the Grim Reaper that lurks in your own veins and glands.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note—Following is another in The Washington Merry-Go-Round's now famous series of columns on inadequacies in national defense.)

WASHINGTON—The United States navy is the president's personal pride and joy. No other branch of the government receives such minute attention from the White House.

For instance, when the new naval hospital was being considered, Roosevelt insisted that it be a structure about 20 stories high. Naval doctors disagreed, said that this tower-like structure would make the floors too small, that efficient hospitals had larger floors, were built lower and covered more acreage.

But Roosevelt liked the idea of a hospital towering over the fields of Maryland like a monument, and since Roosevelt runs the navy, the new naval hospital is being built that way.

To Franklin D. Roosevelt in large part must go the responsibility for whatever the U. S. navy is today. He began securing money for more warships the minute he stepped into the White House. This was his biggest naval achievement. But he also has tolerated certain inefficiencies.

Inadequate Navy.

IN BRIEF, it is probably a fact that the U. S. navy today is the strongest in the world. Its personnel probably tops any other navy's, its marksmanship record is almost 100 per cent, and its morale was never better. Nevertheless, it is not equal to defending both coasts of the United States and the Panama Canal.

There are two reasons for this, the first being that American defense strategy never contemplated defending both coasts of the United States at the same time. It relied upon a friendly British fleet in the Atlantic. Obviously the collapse of this reliance is no fault of the navy nor of any president.

Second defect, however, is its own fault. This defect is a certain rigidity of mind, a refusal to recognize new methods of warfare, a conviction that admirals, like kings, can do no wrong.

This state of mind is responsible for the fact that our fleet today is not adequately armored against airplane attack, that naval aviation has been shamefully neglected, and that the navy is seriously lacking in airplane carriers.

Rigid Brains.

SOME of the navy's current weakness undoubtedly goes back to the London naval conference of 1930, at which the admirals set an all-time record for rigidity of intellect. Prior to London, the British had been building 10,000-ton cruisers carrying 8-inch guns. And because the British had them, most of the American admirals said they must have them too.

In vain did Secretary of State Stimson and the late Joseph P. Cotton, his under secretary, argue that this new type of vessel was relatively untried, that the navy should not put all its cruiser eggs in one basket, that 6-inch gun cruisers were better for close-up fighting, and finally that future warfare might completely change cruiser technique.

However, most of the admirals tried to defeat ratification of the London Treaty, and virtually ostracized Admiral William V. Pratt because he OK'd the treaty. And it took ten years plus Adolf Hitler to prove that Admiral Pratt was right.

Today, the navy is building more destroyers and smaller vessels than at any time since the World war, for the current need is a lot of ships to protect both coasts plus Latin America.

Top-Heavy Destroyers.

IN constructing these destroyers, the rigidity of admiralty intellect once again caused disaster.

The bureau of construction and repair claimed that the bureau of engineering was defetive in planning the destroyers while engineering claimed that construction was to blame, since had not followed its specifications.

But the admirals neither bureau would submit the matter to private naval architects, who were convinced an error was being made. The admirals, like kings, could do no wrong.

Result: thirty of the 36 new destroyers are top-heavy and have to have about 6 tons of lead soldered on their keels, all at the expense of the taxpayer.

Secretary Edison finally stepped in to amalgamate the two bureaus so there will be no more buck-passing. This house-cleaning should have been done years ago, for during the Hoover administration, five of the new 10,000-ton cruisers were found to have cracked sternposts, which had to be replaced at a cost of $30,000 each. Also the cruisers rolled so badly that they had to be equipped with rolling tanks and keel fins.

In other words, naval inefficiency occurs under both Democrats and Republicans—if they don't keep an eye on the admirals.

Annapolis Clique.

THIS rigidity of intellect upon the part of the admirals is due partly to the Annapolis caste system. A total of 10 Annapolis graduates were in charge of the designs for the two heavy destroyers. Civilian experts below them questioned their judgment, but were not heeded, they did not belong to the Annapolis clique.

Fortunately for the navy, Annapolis turns out an A-1, all-around officer, capable of doing almost any naval job. But unfortunately for the navy, an officer who excels on the bridge of a battleship may not be so well equipped as a technical designer of ships.

Furthermore, the admirals seem to be adamant against too much naval research, especially if that research is conducted by civilians.

Two years ago, for instance, the house naval affairs committee provided $15,000,000 for experiment with aerial bombs, aerial mines, lighter-than-air craft, heavier-than-air craft, and other material developments for the national defense."

But the admirals turned this down. It is not often that any branch of the government rejects money, but this time the admirals appeared before the senate committee and vetoed the $5,000,000 for research. They did not say so, but it was suspected that their opposition arose from the fact that civilian inventors were to play an important part in spending the research money.

Navy Wives.

MOST discussed question in the navy today is its promotion system. Unlike the army, promotion in the navy does not depend upon seniority, but upon stiff examinations, ability, and as in most things, upon politics, pull and popularity.

Critics of the system claim that the three latter qualifications now overshadow the first two, and that many a man fails to make the grade in the navy merely because his wife did not leave cards for the wife of an admiral on the Selection Board.

Unquestionably there is something to this. In peacetime wives rule the navy far more than most people suspect, and the navy would do well to add it to "selection" requirements a vote of an officer's popularity with his enlisted men, as well as how well he plays bridge or entertains the wife of the commanding officer.

Despite these defects, there is no question that the hard-boiled system of eliminating officers who do not pass periodical tests makes the navy far more efficient than the army, and is one reason for the average high quality of its personnel today.

A Salesman Calls

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I WAS SWEEPING the living room when the salesman came," said the farmer's wife. "I'd worked in the garden all morning and I was hot and tired. There was still the baby to tend to and a cake to bake for the social. The young man came across the yard with a leather case under one arm. Looked like magazines or books—and I can't get time to read the ones we have. The sight of him made me furious.

"I waited until he spoke to the boys on the porch—'Well, aren't you the nice little fellows! Is mama home?' I heard them say I was, and the patter of bare feet to find me.

"I suppose I looked forbidding when I went to the door. He was sleek and cool in a light summer suit and he smelled of pomade and cigarettes. He threw away a stub with a last long puff and began to talk. It was a speech he had learned by heart.

"'You're one of the home owners of this neighborhood, aren't you,' he said. 'Our company is giving away merchandise to a few choice families as an advertising stunt. I'll just come in and show you.'

"The screen door was unfastened, and in he came. He stuck his hand out and clasped mine with determined firmness. His hand was sleazy though, and I didn't like him. Passive resistance became my forte—I sat down on the arm of the wing-chair, leaned on the broom, and waited. I thought he looked like an insect and wished I dare use a swatter.

"With a flourish, talking all the time, he unclasped the blue-lined case, lifted a velvet drape, and revealed a tinted oval portrait of a woman. She had white hair, a young unwrinkled face, a schoolgirl complexion. She looked as if she had been in the beauty parlor yesterday and been careful ever since. She knew she was pretty and she made me tireder than ever. I suppose my face gave me away, for the salesman quickly turned to the other side of the case. 'Here's one I know will interest you.' It was a little redheaded boy with an impish grin. He was dressed up, but you knew he wouldn't stay that way. I smiled.

"'If an artist came here to paint your children's portraits it would be expensive,' he said. 'So we take a photograph and our artists reproduce it, to the life. Every hair is a separate stroke of the artist's brush.' He pulled a sheaf of envelopes from his pocket, shuffled them, and held them out, fanwise. 'Now take your choice.'

"'But what for?' said I.

"'To see who gets the free paintings. It's a lottery. Forty dollars worth of portraits to the winner.'

"I shook my head. 'I'm not a bit interested.'

"That's wasn't in his book. His mouth fell open. 'Well—you're the first woman I've found who wouldn't take $40 worth of pictures for her walls as a gift! Of course if you feel that way it's your own affair.'

"I think it is," I said evenly. 'I don't want something for nothing, but I'm not alone in it. I was so in hope you were selling fly swatters.'"

Nazis Hurled Back 5 Miles By French

Poilus Fight Fiercely to Hold Paris as Germans Prepare Ultimatum of Surrender Or Be Destroyed.'

France might surrender if Paris were captured, as she did in 1870.

Gen. Maxime Weygand's poilus hurled back the Nazis five miles in the vicinity of Beaumont, only 12 miles from the suburb of Paris. It was here, according to the French, that the Germans had driven their deepest salient toward Paris.

The French acknowledged that they had been compelled to fall back eight miles from Rethel—the zone of a German operation apparently aimed at turning the great Maginot line.

With the fight ever raging closer to Paris, the capital's military governor pronounced it an "open city"—indicating that the outskirts would be defended to the limit, but that there would not be any street fighting inside Paris itself.

Technically, the declaration of the capital as an "open city" means that it contains no military objectives. If observed by the Germans, it would mean saving the famous old capital from bombing and shelling.

In its daily communique, the German high command reported the capture of more than 100,000 Allied prisoners in the nine-day-old battle of France and said 200 enemy tanks had been captured or destroyed in recent fighting.

Premier Reynaud's declaration of France's grim resolve to fight on—even if driven out of France itself—included an appeal to President Roosevelt for a public statement that the United States would give all aid to the Allies save an expeditionary force, and to send help "before it is too late."

Italy's role in the war still remained practically off-stage, except for sporadic air raids and minor naval operations, with no report of the expected land attack against the south of France. An estimated 1,000,000 Fascist troops were reported poised along the maritime Alps frontier, ready to drive into France, but so far the only news of action has been a dispatch saying the Italians blew up a bridge on the border.

Fourteen persons were killed and 39 wounded in an Allied air raid on Turin, Italian industrial center, and two air-raid alarms were sounded during the night at Milan.

Meanwhile Italy, in her first detailed communique on operations, reported air raids "of particular importance" on the French naval base at Toulon and the French Tunisian base of Bizerta, and claimed the sinking of a cruiser and an oil tanker in the Mediterranean.

Great Britain, moving the vanguard of 1,200,000 school children out of bomb-conscious London, announced surrender of part of a division to German forces on the French coast, where the Nazi high command yesterday had claimed capture of 20,000 Allied troops and six generals.

British reinforcements were being speeded to France to aid weary Frenchmen battling to hold the German juggernaut. The British kept a stream of ships moving across the channel loaded with men, guns, rifles and tanks.

At one point the Germans bent the French line back across the Marne river in the Chateau-Thierry area, where the French held the Kaiser's invaders in the World war, and at another point smashed their way into the Persan-Beaumont region 20 miles due north of Paris.

The Eiffel tower was visible to the Germans who counted the city as doomed. Paris, they said, lay within easy range of their guns from three directions.

The war touched off in the Mediterranean area by Italy's plunge, had a prospective new entry in Egypt which handed the Italian minister his passport after severing relations with the Fascist government. Some Cairo quarters said Egypt's formal war declaration was only "a matter of hours."

Turkey, also bound to the Allies by a mutual assistance pact, decided to stay out of the conflict, for the time being at least, and devote her attention to bolstering her defenses.

Italy retaliated for British aerial attacks on Italian industrial areas and north Africa by sending waves of her bombers over Britain's island fortress of Malta Tuesday in a prolonged dusk attack which killed 30 civilians and wounded 37 other persons, including seven soldiers.

Casualties among the working class were reported in further raids Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

The Italians also sowed a new belt of mines in a move to cut the Mediterranean in two and isolate Malta.

German planes darted over England's southern coast early this morning but were driven back over the sea by British anti-aircraft and machine-gun fire.

Spain served formal notice of her "non-belligerency" in the Axis-Allied war. The Madrid regime, aided to victory in the Spanish civil war by Germans and Italians, refrained from using the word "neutrality."

Japan anxiously checked a report appearing in the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi that 2,000 British troops had landed in the Netherlands East Indies in answer to a request for protection.

Both the Netherlands legation and the British embassy in Tokyo denied the report as did the Netherlands government in London.

Japan, the United States, Great Britain and France all have expressed their interest in seeing the status quo there maintained; Germany has advised Japan she is "not interested" in the rich colonial possession of vanquished Holland.

Germans Claim Offensive Thrusts Forward Rapidly

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG, JR.
(UP Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN—The German high command claimed today that "along the entire front the German offensive is thrusting forward rapidly."

A communique issued from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters said that in heavy fighting German divisions had crossed the river Marne at several points.

The capture of Chalons was claimed and the high command said that after passing the 1915 battlefields before Paris, the Germans were in pursuit of the enemy.

The communique said that according to preliminary estimates more than 100,000 Allied prisoners had been taken since June 5, in addition to huge quantities of war material. Two Allied armies on the German west wing were destroyed, it was claimed, and more than 200 Allied tanks were captured.

Chalons, capture of which the high command claimed, is on the Marne 26 miles southeast of Reims. The communique said also that the Germans had gained ground between the Argonne and the Meuse.

German artillery was said to have scored a number of hits on a loaded Allied transport, forcing it to return to the coast, which it had been attempting to leave, near St. Valery, between Dieppe and Le Havre. Another ship, the high command said, exploded under the fire of German anti-tank guns.

The high command, which yesterday said that 20,000 Allied prisoners had been taken in the St. Valery area—a little Flanders—said today that the number had increased to 26,000, including five French generals and one British general.

Despite unfavorable weather German planes continued to bomb the Chalons Sur Marne area and the seacoast, on which one transport and one large tug filled with troops were sunk and a 10,000-ton transport and a number of smaller craft were damaged seriously, the high command said.

It claimed that near Le Havre 20 Allied barrage balloons were shot down.

German destroyers, it was claimed, shot down four of 15 British planes which attempted to raid a German airfield near Trondheim, Norway.

The communique claimed also that a German submarine had attacked a large Allied convoy and had sunk several ships.

BID ACCEPTED

Floyd Lloyd to Operate Stand at Shelby Park.

SHELBY—A bid of $41 from Floyd Lloyd, jr., of Shelby has been accepted by Seltzer park board for the privelege of operating the soft drink stand at the park during the summer months, it was revealed today.

Although slightly less than the bid accepted for the privelege last year, Lloyd's was the highest of the six offered. The bid was accepted at a business session Wednesday night at city hall.

Other persons offering bids for the privelege of operating the concession stand and the amount of the bids follow: Philip Hunter, $36.95; C. A. Cannon, $36.65; Miss Rita Spangler, $25; Logue Scott, $24; and Paul Morrow, $20.

The park board approved regular bills at the meeting. These totaled some $1,118.

Ford In Line for Title of 'King of Airplane Makers'

RIVER ROUGE PLANT STARTS TOOL REVISION

Wizard of Mass Production Ready to Prove He Can Build 1,000 Daily.

By CLINTON GREEN
(INS Staff Correspondent)

DEARBORN—Henry Ford, whose father thought he was "an awful fool," today is a possibility for the title—"king of airplane makers!"

The multi-millionaire wizard of mass production and his large staff of engineers already have started tooling over for mass plane engine production at his River Rouge plant—the largest factory in the world under one roof in which nearly 80,000 men daily perform the 20th century miracle of multiple output.

The man who built an industrial empire from a horseless carriage is ready to prove that he can make 1000 fighting planes a day—a statement that apparently assured the nation of the armada of 50,000 planes asked for by President Roosevelt in his defense message to congress.

Perhaps that will be his answer to armed conflict. He once said: "I want peace—and I will fight like the devil to get it."

Ford said he would make the planes within six months of production (provided they were of a standard type, there was no government "red tape" and he had the counsel of men like Lindbergh and Rickenbacker) and his men are with him.

A high company official sums up the opinion of everyone from Ford automotive engineers to factory hands. He says:

"If Ford said he could do it, he C-A-N do it."

They move fast when Ford gives the "go ahead" and apparently he has issued such an order. His son, Edsel, journeyed to Washington less than 24 hours after the Fords and their engineers inspected a crack army pursuit ship, sent to Dearborn at the request of the inventor. The conference in the capital was with William S. Knudsen, on leave of absence from the presidency of General Motors to head production in the nation's defense council.

Back in Dearborn the same day was Edsel. Within 24 hours it was disclosed that tooling over had begun—the initial stage in Ford's assertion that he could turn out planes nearly as fast as cars.

The hard-pressed Allies have not concealed their interest in Ford's statement which literally rocked aviation circles. If he could fill the government's orders as rapidly as he contends, he could, if he would, supply Great Britain and France.

Tooling, the first task, is no night job. It took Ford about two years to re-tool from the now famous "Model T" to the gear shifting Ford of today. But it would not take that long for tooling over for airplane engines. His aviation engineers have kept abreast of developments although the company ceased manufacturing transport planes some years ago.

Aviation circles think that one reason why the Allies are so interested in Ford's plan for mass production is that it would mean he would not have to ship overseas the finished plane engine—just the tools. There is, for instance, a Ford plant at Dagenham, England. All that would be necessary to follow Ford's ideas would be to have copies of the tools installed.

BIBLE SCHOOL

ASHLAND—A total attendance of 225 has been reached here in the annual vacation Bible school, which is being held at the Park Street Brethren church and at the Third Street Church of the Brethren, it has been announced.

ORDERS VOTE AT WESTINGHOUSE

NLRB Rules That Production, Maintenance Employes Are Proper Bargaining Unit.

The National Labor Relations board today ordered an election within 30 days among production and maintenance employes of the Mansfield Westinghouse plant to decide whether they shall be represented by the CIO-United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers union.

Associated Press dispatches from Cleveland said the board's decision, finding that all of the plant's 4,065 production and maintenance employes constitute an appropriate bargaining unit, resulted from a hearing held here May 24.

The petition, seeking sole bargaining agent for the workers was filed by local 711 of the UERMW.

The Westinghouse Employes association lost a similar election in the plant last December when workers voted 1,445 to 943 against representation by the independent union. The election at that time was limited to a vote on representation by the association after the Union was granted withdrawal from participation.

Receipts From Sales Tax Keep Up Record Pace

Continuing a pace well ahead of last year, Richland county sales tax receipts for the final week of May showed a gain of $1,936 over collections for the corresponding week of 1939.

Revenue for the week, last month, amounted to $12,283 as compared to $10,347 last year. The increase boosted total revenue for the first five months of 1940 to $235,050, a gain of $32,500 over receipts to June 1 last year. State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported.

In the entire state, the excise tax collections on cigarets, malt and beverages were up 6 per cent for May over the same month in 1939. Wine tax collections increased 31 per cent and cigaret taxes 13-1 per cent.

There was a drop of 34 per cent, however, in the revenue the state collected on beer.

paving could be started at any time and it is expected that actual construction will be started as soon as the contract for the work is let.

Murray D. Shaffer, division state highway engineer at Ashland said he expected construction to begin before July 1. The project is scheduled for completion in three months.

Plans call for paving a 22-foot brick center lane with six-foot concrete parking strips on either side from North Diamond street to a point just east of Ausdale avenue.

Entire cost of the project has been estimated at $170,000 with the city and state sharing on a 50-50 basis on approximately half of the cost. Cost of labor to be supplied by the government will make up the additional expense.

City council several weeks ago authorized an appropriation of $29,300 to meet the city's share of the cost and approved the issuance of $18,700 in notes in anticipation of the collection of assessments to finance the property owner's share.

Lawrence, treasurer; H. R. Culbertson, secretary; A. L. Wolfe, third veil; F. W. Carvey, second veil; I. L. Landes, first veil; J. W. Rhoades, guard.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS ON JUNE 22 FORECAST BY LEADERS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Despite fresh suggestions for further study of tax and farm problems, administration leaders claimed enough strength today to adjourn congress June 22.

Proposals to follow the billion-dollar defense tax bill with a general revision of the revenue laws were made in the senate finance committee. Secretary Morgenthau agreed that this would be an opportune time for the work "if you gentlmen want to stay here," but Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said:

"Too many senators want to go home."

A request that congress take a "fresh look" at the farm surplus problem came from Secretary Wallace, who said that the administration might recommend increased funds to dispose of surplus food to American needy and to European war refugees.

"The ever-normal granary program," he said, "has placed the United States in a position to be of the utmost service to a suffering world when and if fears of famine and scarcity abroad become reality."

Congressional leaders gave no immediate indication whether they would act on Wallace's suggestion.

After two days of speechmaking on foreign policy, the senate called for final action on the $1,073,000,000 relief bill.

Even though administration followers won a finance committee agreement to vote Saturday on the tax bill, the senate debate next week may take longer than they first anticipated.

A major fight was in the making over a proposal by Senator Byrd (D-Va.) to whack 10 per cent from non-defense and "non-essential" appropriations which Bryd estimated would save $500,000,000.

BREEZES AHEAD

Fair, Cooler Tomorrow, Says Weatherman's Forecast.

Generally fair weather will prevail tomorrow in this section, despite the "rain song" which robins are singing today, and it will be slightly cooler, according to the forecast.

There may be showers this evening, however, for cloudy skies alternated with sunshine throughout the morning. There was some relief from yesterday's heat this morning for at 10 a. m. the thermometer stood at 75 as compared with 85 yesterday afternoon. At noon today it was 79.

There was very little rainfall here yesterday but high waters north of Mansfield did considerable damage to crops and roads. Near Fairfield and Willard creeks and ditches overflowed and washed out sections of road.

SISTERS JOIN BRIDE CIRCLE

BUCYRUS—Sisters became brides in marriage ceremonies read in Wyandot Methodist church west of Bucyrus Sunday.

Miss Donna Evelyn Sheckler became the bride of the Rev. Carl Bormuth of Lisbon, O., and her sister, Janis, was united in marriage with Wayne Sheaffer of Bucyrus.

Rev. and Mrs. Bormuth will make their home in Lisbon and Mr. and Mrs. Sheaffer will live with the bride's father, Bryant V. Sheckler of near Wyandot.

FUNERAL HELD

Former Bucyrus Resident Dies At East Lansing, Mich.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were held in East Lansing, Mich., a week ago, for Harry C. Teel, 70, former Bucyrus resident, who died near his home in East Lansing of a heart attack.

Survivors include the widow, Mayme Mengel Teel, also a native of Bucyrus, and six married children. Mrs. J. C. Hazen of Bucyrus is a niece.

The deceased was former factory superintendent for the Reo automobile firm. At the time of his death he was a member of the board of directors of the Novo company and the Federal Drop Forge company, both of East Lansing.

Wheeler Would Investigate British Fifth Column Acts

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D) Mont., called today for an immediate investigation of "the British fifth-column, Wall Street or any other interest trying to involve" the United States in Europe's war.

Wheeler's statement came as Sen. Rush Holt (D) W. Va., charged that "a British fifth column" met secretly in Washington and mapped plans for an unusual campaign to repeal the Johnson act as "another step to involve the U. S. in the war abroad."

The Johnson act bars American loans to countries in default on debts growing out of the 1914 World war.

Wheeler called for passage of a resolution by Sen. D. Worth Clark (D) Ida., which would provide for a probe into all fifth column activities, including those sponsored by the Communist International party or by Nazi or Fascist groups. The Montana senator stated:

"The Clark resolution should be brought out before the senate immediately and adopted. There should be an immediate investigation of the British fifth column, the Nazi fifth column or any other fifth column. We ought to find out whether the British or Wall Street or any other interest is trying to get us into the war."

Wheeler, once a staunch administration supporter, threatened yesterday in the senate to break with President Roosevelt and the Democratic party if they advocate America's entrance into Europe's war.

OHIO SUPREME COURT STUDIES THEATER CASE

Lottery Question on 'Bank Night' Considered By State Tribunal.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—After hearing oral arguments, the state supreme court today took under consideration a motion to appeal a suit that may determine whether "bank night," as operated in 400 theaters in Ohio, constitutes a lottery under Ohio law.

If the high tribunal decides to review the suit, it will be asked to rule on opinions of the lower courts of Miami county, which held that "bank night" as operated by the Troy Amusement company of Troy, violated state gambling laws.

Original action was brought by the amusement company, operators of the Mayflower theater, to enjoin Andrew Attenweiler, an individual, and officials of Newberry township, from interfering with operation of bank night. The injunction was denied by lower courts.

Ben H. Schwartz, Cleveland, counsel for the theater, contended before the supreme court that if the decision of lower courts were upheld, it would "open the door to millions of law suits" by theater patrons to collect money paid to theaters for admission on bank nights.

Schwartz contended that at least 3,000,000 persons in Ohio have registered in 400 theaters since 1935 to participate in bank night prizes.

Michael E. Norris, of Troy, attorney for Attenweiler, argued before the court that his client had not raised the lottery question, but merely that of power of lower courts to enjoin public officials from "performing their duties."

Norris explained that his client was interested in collecting $10.40 he asserted had been paid in to the theater over a year's period to attend bank night programs.

Since the supreme court plans to adjourn this week for the summer, it was considered unlikely that a decision on the case would be reached until September or later.

LODGE ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

LOUDONVILLE—The regular meeting of the King Cyrus Chapter No. 207 was held at the Masonic Temple with L. I. Kerr, High Priest, in charge. The officers elected for the coming year are as follows:

PARK BECOMES TENTED CITY FOR CAMPORALL

700 Scouts Expected to Join In Fun and Contests Over Two-Day Period.

Liberty park will be turned into a "tented city," without military maneuvers, for the next two days as Boy Scouts from the Johnny Appleseed area gather there for their annual Camporall.

Scouts and their leaders began arriving at the park this afternoon, and over 700 of them are expected at the Camporall, which continues through Saturday.

Some Scouts, especially those from Mansfield and nearby towns, began arriving early this afternoon, while the rest of them are expected to arrive this evening. A two-hour motion picture show and song fest has been arraged for the Scout's entertainment tonight.

Friday's program includes opening of a kittyball tournament at 9 a. m., eliminations in Scouting contests at 1:30 p. m., and a public program at 8:15 p. m. The evening program will include a concert by the senior high school band, directed by J. Merton Holcombe, a short flag day program, scout stunts, an annual awarding of the Hillier trophy and President's cup.

Finals of the kittenball tournament will be played at 9 a. m. Saturday, and the scouts are scheduled to break camp Saturday noon. C. I. Kimel heads the Camporall committee.

MANSFIELDERS TO JOIN AUTO PARADE TO PARK

Thousands Expected to Take Part in Ox Roast, Program Sunday at Mohican.

A number of Mansfield motorists will join the Conservation caravan at Ashland Sunday for the trip to Mohican park where an ox-roast will be staged at noon Several thousand persons are expected to take part in the affair.

The caravan is being arranged by the state conservation department and the League of Ohio Sportsmen. Bent Donley, Ashland, is in charge of arrangements. Purpose of the caravan and the afternoon program is to urge the retention of the CCC camp at Mohican State park in order that the recreation and conservation facilities of Mohican and Pleasant Hill and Charles Mill reservoirs may be preserved and extended for Ohio.

The Sunday event will be preceded on Saturday with a meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen, at the Otter hotel, Ashland, in the afternoon, and a reception for outdoor writers at the Ashland Country club in the evening.

The caravan will leave the Otter hotel at 10 a. m. Sunday. On the trip to Mohican park, the caravan will pass 20 points of historical interest which have been outlined for the motorists by Historian William Duff of Ashland.

Luncheon will be served at noon at the state park. The afternoon program will be made up of music by the Loudonville High school band and several brief talks by men interested in keeping the CCC camp at the park Among the speakers will be R B Gardner, Mansfield, state commander of the American Legion; O A Alderman, Wooster, state forester; M. V. Loudenbeck, Sidney, president of the League of Ohio Sportsmen; Bryce Browning New Philadelphia, secretary of the Muskingum Conservancy district; George Trautman, president of the conservation and natural resources commission, and Paul Herbert, Columbus, lieutenant governor of the state.

In addition to organizations in this part of the state that are interested in keeping the CCC camp at Mohican, there will be representatives from a number of Chambers of Commerce. The Mansfield group will be represented by George Meade, chairman of the caravan plans in Mansfield, and several members of the city beautification committee.

Hindu Freshman Gives Up Beard As Incompatible

VANCOUVER B C.—(U P)—On his way to New Brunswick to attend the provincial university there is Hari Singh Virdee, Nairobi, Kenya Colony Hindu, who was faced with making an heroic decision between retaining his magnificent beard or obtaining a degree in civil engineering. Education won, and Virdee is on his way east with a clean-shaven, if sorrowful face.

Virdee, a civil servant in the East African colony, arrived here en route to eastern Canada on the Japanese motorship Hikawa Maru, and according to the crew, had spent much of the voyage in contemplation over his problem.

Apparently he believed his luxurious beard to be incompatible with his role as a university freshman, and therefore, to the dismay of the envious and admiring crew members, sacrificed it shortly before landing.

TURKEY PLAN

Growers Offer All-Year Diet of Favorite Bird.

ROSEBURG, Ore.—(INS)— Inmates and employes of public institutions throughout the nation can look forward to regular "Thanksgiving Dinners" with all the trimmings within the next few months if the plan advocated by Southern Oregon turkey growers becomes effective.

Pointing out that more than 60,000,000 pounds of turkey are in storage at the present time, officials sent out nearly a thousand letters to executives in a position to alleviate the plight of the turkey industry.

The letters urged that four or five turkey dinners during the spring and summer months be served the wards, inmates and employes of all public institutions and men in service Present low prices of turkeys officials believe are conducive to all-year consumption of America's favorite bird and may save the industry from financial ruin.

Letters were sent governors of the 48 states, congressmen, purchasing agents of the army, navy, marine corps, veterans' bureau, civilian conservations corps and other departments.

EDITOR WARNS WEATHER MAN

Last Summer He Got Rain Each Time Paper Demanded It.

PITTSBURGH, Kans —(AP)—F. W Brinkerhoff, Pittsburgh editor who made a reputation for himself last year by getting a rain every time he demanded one editorially, hopes to lighten his task this summer.

He put in a blanket demand the other day for a rain whenever one might be needed and then admonished the weather man: "We trust it will not be necessary for us to say anything more about it the rest of the year"

ROME CHARGES ALLIES RAID OPEN CITIES

Italians Bomb French Naval Bases, Report Huge Fires Started at Bizerta.

port will be published regarding this raid."

The Rome radio broadcast stated that in retaliation for Allied raids on Italian cities, the Italian air force is bombing Allied military objectives exclusively.

The British Mediterranean base of Malta was one of the military objectives named by the Rome announcer.

The Rome radio also characterized the attitude of the United States toward the European war as "unintelligible and futile."

Meanwhile, Italian officials declared relations between this country and Egypt will depend upon "development of the Egyptian attitude."

(Egypt yesterday broke off diplomatic relations with Italy.)

The charges of Allied aerial attacks on Italian cities followed issuance of a warning to neutral ships that mines have been sown along hundreds of miles of the Italian, Albanian, Sicilian and African colonial coasts.

Official announcement of the mining operations followed a statement admitting that Allied warplanes yesterday afternoon bombed Turin and Milan. Details regarding these raids were withheld by Italian military authorities.

(A London statement said Genoa also was attacked.)

According to this morning's announcement, a 12-mile belt of Italian and colonial waters has been mined. Neutral ships planning to pass through the straits of Messina between Italy and Sicily were asked to notify authorities and give proof of their nationality and destination.

MRS. PLUM DIES

Mansfield Woman, 72, Succumbs After Long Illness.

Mrs. Susan Plum, 72, of 12 Florence avenue, died Thursday at her home following a lingering illness. Born in Ashland county, March 2, 1868, Mrs. Plum had been a resident of Mansfield most of her life. Surviving are her husband, William; a daughter, Mrs. [illegible]e Winbigler, Mansfield; two brothers, Herbert Mohler of Loudonville and David Mohler of Youngstown and a sister, Mrs. Rose Cronen of Youngstown. She was a member of the United Brethren church and the Women's Relief corps.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday in charge of Rev. James L. Boyer. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Richland School Teachers to Go To Cedar Point

A number of Mansfield and Richland county school heads and teachers will go to Cedar Point Friday for the annual summer meeting of the Ohio Education association.

The city-county delegation will be headed by Supt. W. L. Miller of the Mansfield schools and Boyd Robinson, county superintendent.

Opening tomorrow, the session will continue through Sunday morning. Principal speakers will include E. N. Dietrich, state director of education; Dr. Horace J. Bridges of the Chicago Ethical society; Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, and C. William Duncan, editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

E. J. Ashbaugh, of Oxford, president of the association, will preside during the sessions. He is dean of the college of education at Miami university.

tain and France have little chance for victory.

He urged, therefore, that America plan to meet any emergency. Presumably he repeated the advice given in his recent radio speech, however—that the country determine exactly what it meant to defend, whether the continental United States or the whole western hemisphere, before mapping its air policy.

Present at the meeting in the office of Sen. Bennett Clark (D. Mo.) were Sens. Clark, Shipstead (F. L. Minn.); and Rep. Van Zandt (R. Pa.) former commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

All have been consistent and vocal foes of any participation by the United States—military or diplomatic—in the present European conflict.

Lindbergh has been an equally vigorous defender of the isolationist point of view. In a recent radio broadcast he, in effect, accused the Roosevelt administration of war-mongering. His attack on White House policy was answered in another radio speech by Sen. James F. Byrnes (D. S. C.) in which he belittled Lindbergh's knowledge of international affairs and called attention to the fact that he had been decorated by Germany.

5 INJURED IN AUTO MISHAPS

Girl, 10, Struck by Auto as She Runs From Behind Parked Vehicle.

Five persons were injured, none seriously, in three automobile and truck accidents near Mansfield last night and yesterday morning, highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies said today.

Ten-year-old Mary Jane Farst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Farst, R. D. 1, Lexington, is in General hospital with injuries received at 11:20 p. m. Wednesday when she was struck by an automobile driven by Warren Chester Bloodhart, 21, R. D. 2, Crestline, on route 30-S in Ontario.

She suffered lacerations of her face, arms and legs. Hospital attendants today reported her condition "good."

The girl was struck as she ran from behind a parked car, across route 30-S in front of Bloodhart's automobile, officers said.

Mrs. Gladys L. Wise, 37, Crestline, her daughter and a maid, riding with her, suffered minor injuries when their automobile was struck by a car driven by Ray Shrewsberry, 32, of R. D. 4, Mansfield, yesterday on U. S. route 30-S, four miles from Mansfield, patrolmen said.

Mrs. Wise received a bruised left elbow and abrasions on her forehead. Her three-year-old daughter, Joy Ann, was bruised on the chin, left knee and above the right eye, and Ruth Gosser, 17, suffered body bruises. All were treated by a physician.

Carroll Black, 36, of Franklin, O., suffered body lacerations and abrasions, when he jumped from his truck when the brakes failed to hold while going down a hill, one mile east of Jeromesville, on U. S. route 30 yesterday morning. The truck struck a culvert and upset off the highway.

SWISS PROTEST

Complain to London on Geneva Bombing Yesterday.

GENEVA — (INS) — The Swiss minister to London today was instructed to lodge a protest with the British government against the bombing of Geneva yesterday.

Investigation on the bombing by Swiss authorities revealed the bombs dropped on Geneva and other points in Switzerland were of British origin.

TWO FRIENDS GIVE PARTY FOR MISS HIGH

Colonial Theme Carried Out at Pre-Nuptial Affair Held at Susie Janis Home; Dinner Planned Saturday.

ANOTHER in the series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Ruth High was given last night by Mrs. Robert Fry and Miss Naomi Gradon at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road. There were 16 present at the colonial party at which bridge and hearts were played.

Prize winners were Miss Marjorie High, Miss Mary Gruber, Miss Helen Wolford and Miss Ada Steward. These winners presented their gifts to the honoree

A colonial nosegay bouquet and lighted tapers were used on the table, and nutcups marked each place. The hostesses presented the honoree with a double nosegay wrist corsage.

The guests gave Miss High a Duncan Pfyfe coffee table, and the hostesses presented her with a gift of lace. The next party in the series honoring Miss High will be a dinner Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Wade Arbaugh in Canton. Miss Nellie Dilmore will be the associate hostess.

Miss High will become the bride of C. K. Dye in an informal ceremony at 2:30 p. m. June 22 at the First Lutheran church with Grover E. Swoyer officiating.

Among the recent brides to be honored was Mrs. Melvin Welty, the former Miss Metta Pearl Roach, who now resides in Ashland. She was entertained by Miss Frances Beck, 346 Newman street, last night. Cards were in play at three tables with prizes going to Miss Maxine Granger, Greenwich, Miss Hildegard Fensch and Mrs. Charles Huck.

Miniature bouquets of roses and pinx decorated the table at which a two course luncheon was served. Pink and white appointments carried out the decorative scheme. The hostess gave the bride a bedspread, and the guests presented her with a shower of linen gifts. Mrs. Earl Roach Sullivan, was an out-of-town guest.

Engage Orchestra For Dinner-Dance At Club Tonight

Jerry Anderson's orchestra has been engaged for the 12th annual dinner-dance of the St. Peter's Alumni association, it was announced today. The function will be held tonight at Westbrook Country club with the 1940 graduates as guests of honor. Dinner will be served at 7 p. m. followed by dancing at 9:30 p. m.

Robert Walter will serve as toastmaster, and speakers will be Msgr. R. C. Goebel, Ralph Bishop, president of the association, Robert Fisher, general chairman, Roger Bolin, and John Leibfritz, president of the graduating class. Chaperones will be Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Kessler and Mr. and Mrs. Bolin.

Other members of the arrangements committees were Walter Perl, Howard Lee, Miss Ann Schmidt, Miss Jeanne Scott, Bernard Brown, Robert McNamara, Miss Mildred Dalton, Raymond Baum, Miss Jane Minor, Miss Helen Kurik, Michael Hornung, Miss Dorothy Scott and Edward McNamara.

Dinner Party Finishes C. L. of C. Tourney

Losers of a recent card tournament in the C. L. of C. entertained the winners last evening with a dinner party at the Schwarz Tavern, Lexington avenue road. Places were laid at one long table which was attractively decorated with spring flowers. Prizes for the tournament were won by Miss Mary Rizzo, Mrs. Raymond Straub and Mrs. Frank Loykovitch, in bridge, and in five hundred, Mrs. Anton Schweitzer, Mrs. Joseph Zimmerman and Mrs. Joseph Menrath.

During the evening cards were in play with score prizes in bridge and five hundred being awarded to Mrs. Joseph Massa, and Mrs. Schweitzer. Mrs. Anna Schiska and Mrs. Lloyd Dillon were the members in charge of arrangements. The next meeting will be held June 18 at the club rooms.

Mrs. Edwards Hostess To Mayflower Class

Mrs. L. H. Edwards was hostess to members of the Esther class of the Mayflower Congregational church at her home, 216 Rae avenue yesterday. She was assisted by Mrs. Mary Seymour. Mrs. Albert Frank led the devotions, and Mrs. Cleo Hainer conducted the business meeting. Group singing and contests followed with prizes going to Mrs. Mary Dinges, Mrs. Ralph Peat and Mrs. Lial Ish.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Imo Davis, Longview avenue, will entertain July 10 with Mrs. Hainer assisting.

Helped Arrange St. Peter's Alumni Party

Tonight's the night of the big alumni association dinner-dance at Westbrook Country club, and the two young women shown above were among the busiest members of the large committees that made arrangements for the affair. They are Miss Dorothy Scott, left, and Miss Jeanne Scott, chairman of the publicity committee and member of the orchestra committee respectively.

REVEALS ENGAGEMENT AT SORORITY MEET

Miss Dorothy Yauger Will Become Bride of James M. Polatty In Georgia Community Church In Mid-July.

WHEN members of Delta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority met at the home of Mrs. Charles McMullen, 395 Park avenue west, yesterday evening, they received a telegram from a former member, Mrs. John Chatlain of Chicago, Ill., announcing the approaching marriage of another member. Miss Dorothy Yauger, who will become the bride of James M. Polatty of Columbia, S. C. The wedding will be an event of July 20.

Miss Yauger, who resides at 323 Park avenue west, is the daughter of former Mansfield residents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Yauger, whose present home is in Thompson, Ga. The marriage will be solemnized in the Methodist church at Thompson. Mr. Polatty is the son of Mrs. J. M. Polatty of Leesburg, Fla.

The bride-elect will have her sister, Mrs. Michael Holmes of Ft. Moultrie, S. C., as her only attendant. She was the former Miss Peggy Yauger of this city. Mr. Polatty's brother, John, of Leesburg, will serve as his best man.

Bridge was the diversion at last evening's party, and at the close of the games refreshments were served at the small tables. Next Tuesday evening two members of the sorority, Mrs. George Bender and Mrs. Russell Doehla, will honor the bride-elect with a shower.

Miss Yauger, who will leave for Thompson at the end of this month, is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and the Mansfield Business Training school. She is employed at the court house. Mr. Polatty is affiliated with the Harza Engineering company near Columbia. A graduate of the University of South Carolina, he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma, national social fraternity, and Blue Key, national honorary society for men, while attending the school. The couple will reside in Columbia after the wedding.

KRUSCHEN—NOW COMES IN NEW PLEASANT TASTING DELICIOUS "BUBBLING" FORM

Constipation Sufferers Overjoyed!

Since recent scientific tests were made public, Kruschen is winning new friends everywhere. And just listen to this—Kruschen now comes in a NEW effervescent form—sparkling—"bubbling"—pleasant tasting—and offers an IDEAL "daily" treatment for constipation.

Tests at a World-Famous Hospital proved that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually helps nature to produce her own gentle, pleasant "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon soft, moist and easy to expel. Also a mild antacid and kidney stimulant.

Kruschen gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar costs only a trifle and lasts for WEEKS! And now that it comes in such delightfully pleasant form—why don't YOU get onto the "little daily dose." (Kruschen is also obtainable in the original "still" form.) Made in U. S. A.

Lamb Makes Tasty Dish

By BETSY NEWMAN

SUPPOSE you get word that some of "the girls" are coming over one bright morning, and you know you will be expected to serve them lunch. Your food budget won't allow you to go forth and buy a lot of things, so you look over your refrigerator and find some of Sunday's roast — lamb, maybe. This menu may help you solve the problem at little expense.

Today's Menu

Iced Fruit Juice
Lamb Croquettes
Molded Tomato Salad
Buttered or Creamed Green Peas
Hot Biscuits Snow Balls
Strawberry or Raspberry Sauce
Coffee

* * *

Lamb Croquettes

2 cups finely chopped cooked lamb
1 cup boiled rice
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon butter
Salt and pepper

Make a white sauce of flour, butter and milk, mix other ingredients thoroughly, and then combine with hot white sauce. Spread on platter, and when cold, shape into croquettes and fry in deep, hot fat until brown. This serves approximately five.

* * *

Snow Balls

¼ cup butter
½ cup sugar
1 cup general purpose flour
Teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites (stiffly beaten)

Cream butter and add sugar gradually, creaming until the mixture is very fluffy. Sift together the flour, baking powder, and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Fold in vanilla and stiffly beaten egg whites. Fill small, buttered pudding molds about two-thirds full. Cover, and place on rack in the cooker. Cover cooker, and cook on high heat until steam escapes from the vent. Turn to simmer and cook for about 3 minutes longer. Makes 6 small puddings. These directions are for an electric steamer. For ordinary steamer, steam one hour. Serve warm, with strawberry or raspberry sauce, or, if you prefer it, you might put a spoonful of raspberry jam in each buttered mold before pouring in the batter.

Strawberry or Raspberry Sauce

1 cup sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup berries (crushed)
¼ cup cold water
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Combine sugar and cornstarch, add crushed berries and cold water which have been mixed together. Blend well. Add lemon juice and cook, stirring constantly until the sauce thickens slightly.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

It had come at last! The confirmation of Mary in the stellar role of my play had just fallen from Philip Veritzen's lips accompanied by an extravagant tribute to her, and after the fraction of a second's silence, there rose so tumultous a clapping of hands and cries of acclaim that one would have thought seventy voices instead of seven were responsible for the noise.

But though I applauded with the rest and though I rejoiced with the radiant girl facing us, and savoring the taste of her first cup of success which I believed she would drink many times in the future, I still could not rid myself of the foreboding that Philip Veritzen, though giving Mary her phenomenal chance, might still be plotting against her happiness.

Then, as if in answer to my unspoken question, Philip Veritzen looked at the rest of us again, and then singled out Noel and Oline.

"Noel," he said, smiling, "Will you please conduct your future sister up here?"

If I had thought that Olina's heart was engaged in the campaign she had been waging for Noel, I could have felt sorry for her, as with a gallant but ineffectual atempt at nonchalance, she rose and took the arm Noel dutifully held out to her. But by the time she reached her future step-father's side, and he had ranged her beside Mary, facing us, she was as poised and as imperturbable as even her royal mother could have wished, and I mentally saluted her courage even as I gloated over the discomfiture to her pride in that word "sister."

"First," Mr. Veritzen said, smiling a bit fatuously, "I wish to repeat what I said during the rehearsal, that I am tremendously pleased not only with the musical rendition of my future daughter but with her histrionic ability as well, and I am glad to welcome her to a secure place in the Veritzen organization—if she wishes it."

I thought I knew what was behind those last words. Philip Veritzen is a Turkish pasha at heart. He secretly would prefer that the women of his family should not appear before the footlights. But none of us gave that sidelight upon his motives a single thought. Instead we applauded his verdict upon Olina as heartily as we had his triubte to Mary, and then watched and listened breathlessly as he addressed his son with what I guessed was a camouflaged announcement that he fully accepted his marriage, and would never interfere with it again.

"Noel, my son," he said formally. "It was always a grief to you, I know, that you never had a sister. Now I am presenting you a most charming one whom I know you will always love and cherish as if she were indeed your own.

"You are a most fortunate lad," he went on smiling, "to have a wife like yours, and then add a sister also. And I, who never had a daughter, am now doubly blessed in having two."

He raised Mary's hands to his lips, and then deftly handed her into Noel's keeping. Then he saluted Olina, in kind, and, offering her his arm, conducted her to her mother, who put both of her hands in his with an impetuous and distinctly approving gesture.

"I take it the audience is over," Lillian said with a merry affectionate glance at her old friend who smiled back at her.

"I have said all that I have to say," he returned, "and I must now get back to the hotel."

"And we must get back to work," Lillian said, "picking us up with her eyes," as if she were a dinner hostess, and making us realize that Philip and Olga might like a few minutes of conversation alone together. We all trooped out, leaving Philip with Olga and her daughter, but as the last of us came into the hall, we heard Olina say sweetly, "Will you please excuse me, Maman? I must see Mrs. Graham a minute."

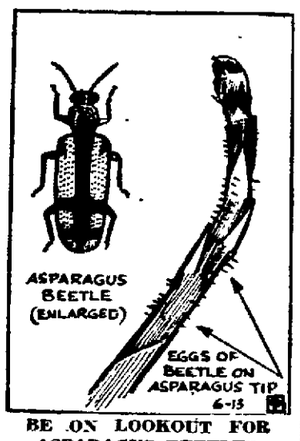
Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY



BE ON LOOKOUT FOR ASPARAGUS BEETLES

In certain localities, asparagus is seriously injured by the asparagus beetles. There are two species of the beetles, both about ¼ inch long. It is believed that these beetles feed only upon asparagus.

The common asparagus beetle is illustrated in enlarged form in today's Garden-Graph. It has a dark metallic-blue underbody and head, and its wings are marked with yellow and red. This beetle lays its eggs on the tender asparagus shoots, as shown in the drawing. The only control at this time is to keep the shoots cut every day, thus removing the eggs before they can hatch.

Still another beetle which attacks asparagus is the twelve-spotted beetle. It is orange-colored and has six black spots on each wing.

Once the cutting period for asparagus is past both of these beetles can be controlled by spraying or dusting the asparagus with arsenate of lead. Use three pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water for spraying. When dusting mix the arsenate of lead with four times as much hydrated lime.

Sit Pretty; It Becomes You

By MME. QUI VIVE

It is the bad example that makes for reform. Whenever you see a round-shouldered girl, you're likely to pull yourself up. Observe the ungainly sitters who disgrace their sartorial draperies by sprawling in chairs, who pay no attention to the way their legs are posed. Some of them fold up as soon as they are seated, forcing the tummy into an ugly roll and doing a chest slump.

When occupying a chair, occupy the entire seat; don't sit on the edge as if you expected to jump up any minute and gallop away. Place the body far back so that the bend of the knee is just beyond the edge of the seat.

Keep the torso stretched, but not rigid. The uplifted spinal column throws the chest forward, flattens the abdominal area. Let the arms be easily posed. Mind the pose of your hands. Pretty hands lose charm if the fingers haven't an easy manner.

Carry your head splendidly, which means that it should be balanced. The back tilt is arrogant, the lowered chin hasn't any spirit. Posture has much to do with the state of the mind. If you sit as a lady should, you'll feel like a lady. Self-consciousness, the curse of millions of girls and women, will evaporate.

Don't forget that the costliest frock is nothing more than a mess of dry goods if it isn't worn with splendor. Be pose-minded. The woman whose brains and muscles are spirited and vibrant interests you and catches your admiring eye.

Fashions of today, plucked from a romantic period of the past, call for the distinguished manner and they demand beautiful movement and graceful lines. If you enjoy exercise, have a circulatory system that is working normally, you will be among the elect.

We realize that when we mention exercise a certain number of the beauty clientele will turn up bored noses. Let them, when middle age is upon them they will probably have meal bag figures. Serve them right.

With the short skirt still prevailing, it is particularly necessary to be a pretty sitter. Crossed ankles look better than crossed knees. There's no reason why kneecaps should be in the public eye; they do not possess charm. Women who have good taste, horse sense and large legs do not go in for kilts. A few extra inches on the skirt curtains some of the bulk.

Grace and good posture can be cultivated by all types. If there are any doubts about it one can become a pupil of a school of physical education and benefit by professional attention.

Shoulder Line Important

Right here and now we protest against the expression "middle-aged shape." There are thousands of women forty or fifty years old —some even more ancient—who are as slender as saplings, lovely of outline, graceful of movement. There are youngsters who are hunchy of shoulders, ploppy of tummy and flat in the chest because they shamble or lope, never stand erect, and think they're the cutest things alive.

Today's beauty preachment has to do with shoulders. Unless you are blessed with the perfect shape, peel a suspicious eye toward freak sleeves and funny do-dads on the shoulders. They're risky, girls. They throw the anatomical frame out of proportion, especially if the frame has taken to the practice of collecting adipose tissue in bunches. All right on the lady of fashion who struts her dry goods stuff as only she can do it.

By keeping the head balanced, not dropping the chin or sticking the sassy nose up in the air, by keeping the chest high as it should be, the shoulders will fall naturally and easily and the movements of the arms will not be awkward. One must, at all times, endeavor to look alive, alert.

The way we move influences the lines of the body because of the effect movement has on the musculature. When you stoop to pick something from the floor, where do you bend? That's important. A good bender is a graceful walker and a pretty sitter.

If you bend at the waistline you go to the foot of the beauty class. Try it; see what is does. The tummy bulges. Bend at the line of the hips. Abdominal muscle tighten like a drum. Makes them strong.

When sitting as a desk, typewriter or sewing table, sit far back, keep the backbone stretched and the shoulders in form. If it is necessary to send the torso forward, bend at the hips. Don't fold up in the middle like a camp chair.

If you would keep youngness of outline, don't throw the shoulders forward, contract the chest or snuggle up in a huddle upon all occasions. Keep the body spirited. Feel that way. Move beautifully.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THRICE IN ONE HAND

Have you ever been squeezed three times in the same hand? Well, it doesn't happen often. When it does, the declarer may have done some very beautiful work, or possibly he merely ran out his winning tricks in the regular way and the squeezes occurred because of the way the cards happened to be situated. But suppose you made the squeezes possible by your own mistake in defense. Then how would you feel?

West led the heart 2, the 10 forcing the K. Declarer went to dummy with the club K and finessed the diamond Q to the K. West now considered that he had four more winning tricks in his hand, one in spades, two in hearts and one in diamonds. If he had led the spade K back, he would have taken at least a couple of them, but he made the worst possible return, the heart 4 which South took with the 9.

Four clubs were then run. West discarded two spades and his heart J, for squeeze number one, then on the last club tossed a diamond, thus being squeezed out of his only trick in that suit. South then cashed the diamond A, J and 9, the last of these squeezing West a third time. He was now down to his two high spades and his heart A. If he threw the heart, the Q would win. So he discarded one of the two spade honors. Declarer then went to the spade A, dropping the K, and took the final trick with the spade 10, making an unbid small slam.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 14.

According to the lunar transits bearing rule on the affairs of this day there may be much need for discretion, prudence, vigilance and calm action if difficulties and anxieties are to be averted. This applies to all phases of contacts and endeavor, social, emotional, intellectual and business. There is particular discord from indulgence in impetuous, reckless or intemperate conduct, either in correspondence or sentimental relationships. Extravagance, self-indulgence in all forms are to be curbed and sudden moves or changes may prove regrettable.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which smooth sailing and harmony depend on personal restraints, control of emotions and physical appetites as well as business moderation of conduct. Extravagance, impetuosity, turbulence and temper, passion, and violence, menace all situations, with particular storm and stress, unhappiness and disruption in the intimate relations. All writings should be calmly considered.

A child born on this day may be fiery and energetic but prone to self-indulgence, extravagance, impetuosity and passion in all its relations. However, it may have social graces with kindliness and generosity of heart.

'Threw Away My Box of Soda After I Started On Vendol'

Butler, Ohio, Resident had No Signs of Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomach. After Getting Gratifying Relief From Constipation.

MRS. SUSIE CARTER

"It used to be a case of 'run for the soda' after most every meal, but after taking Vendol a short time I threw away my box of soda," says Mrs. Susie Carter, highly esteemed resident of Butler, a few miles from Mansfield.

"Most everything I ate turned sour, upset my stomach, and I'd suffer from acid risings, lump in my throat, 'heartburn', palpitation, shortness of breath, awful cramps, and a nervous jittery feeling in my stomach. This condition was associated with constipation which also kept me from getting restful sleep so that most every morning I'd get up feeling about as tired as the night before, with achy back and legs.

"I heard so much praise for Vendol that I began taking it a few weeks ago, and it gave marvelous relief from my constipation and helped to neutralize the excess stomach acids so now I feel fine all the time, and advise everyone suffering this way to get Vendol without delay."

Give Vendol a chance to help you too, like it has so many men and women right here in this city and nearby vicinity.

Vendol is sold and displayed by all leading druggists, and is highly recommended here by Central Drug Store, corner Main and 4th Streets.

Ferguson Charged With Assessing Campaign Payments

OUSTED STATE OFFICERS FILE 8 AFFIDAVITS

Former Examiners Say Salary Nicked 2 Per Cent By Auditor.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The state civil service commission today turned over to the Franklin county prosecutor affidavits of eight former state examiners alleging they were assessed two per cent of their salary for a "miscellaneous fund."

Several affidavits charged the fund was used to finance State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's political campaigning. The examiners were employes of the state auditor's office.

The commission referred the affidavits to Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett "for further investigation and appropriate action" in accordance with a law prohibiting solicitation of civil service employes for political purposes.

Six of the eight former employes swore that they paid sums ranging from $131 to $15 and some submitted their cancelled checks, copies of which were given to the prosecutor.

Most of them said the payments were made to H S. Brown, former chief clerk of the bureau of inspection, now dead, and to C. C. Cluggish, his successor. Numerous checks were endorsed with their names.

The eight and the amounts they allegedly contributed were: Fred Stiles of Marietta. $131; John J. Badurina of Columbus. $15; Pete Tonchina of Dayton, $41; Elmer J. Peterson of Cleveland, five payments (amounts not listed); Russell A. Thomas of Fayetteville, Brown county, none; Nell McCue, Van Wert, $80; Rachel L. Stewart of Springfield. $99, and Lucille Hertzer of Bucyrus, none.

Some said they were dismissed when they discontinued their contributions.

Solicitations were alleged to have been made by Norman Beck, deputy auditor, and O. P. Van Schoik, chief relief examiner.

Miss McCue's affidavit said Van Schoik once congratulated us on the fine way in which we were "kicking in."

Tonchina's affidavit said that Gerald Miller of Millersburg, an examiner in the auditor's office, "said to me: Mr. Joseph Ferguson, auditor of state, wanted two per cent of my salary each month for political purposes because he, Mr. Ferguson, gave me a job and it cost him money to be elected."

Albert Lambert, examiner in charge of the liquor division carried a little black book listing the salaries of employes under him and the amounts they were to pay monthly, the affidavit said further.

Ohio Companies Plan Expansion Of Plane Output

MIDDLETOWN —(AP)— Rapid expansion of the light airplane industry in Ohio appeared likely today as officials of two major firms disclosed proposals to double their capacities.

The Aeronautical Corp. of America, which just moved from Cincinnati to 100 per cent larger quarters here, may produce as many as 50 (Aeronca) ships a week within a year, Production Manager Giles E. Barton said.

Simultaneously the Taylorcraft Aviation Corp., of Alliance, submitted a refinancing plan to stockholders for enlargement of its plant to raise capacity from 1,000 to 2,000 planes a year. Directors asked authority to issue 60,000 shares of new preferred stock.

Who's Harry? That is a question Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is asking his friends today. The reason is that Chapman received three postal cards through the mail this morning from Chicago, and each was signed Harry. He has no idea who sent the cards or does not know anyone, especially by that name, who is visiting in Chicago at the present time.

A part of the great battle between French and German armies raged around Senlis, France yesterday and today. It was at Senlis that the Louis Bromfields lived for about 12 years, leaving there 18 months ago. The author still owns the 400-year-old stone pryory, whose gardens he made into one of the show places of northern France. A year ago he removed most of his furniture and leased the house. A small stone chapel in the garden has stood untouched through all of the wars that have raged over France in four centuries. That it could survive the wide path of destruction cut by Nazi tanks and shells, seemed unlikely. It is 30 miles from Paris in the path of one flank of the German advance.

Prosecutor G. W. Marriott hopes Richland county will be on its good behavior during the next few weeks so he can get away for his annual fishing trip to Buckhorn lake, Canada. He plans to leave in a few days. This year he will cut his vacation down to two weeks, but he didn't say whether it was because of the war or the fact that this is a busy campaign year for count officials. Last year the prosecutor spent nearly a month at the Ontario lake with his family and Shelby friends.

Visitors at City Hall today inquiring the reason for the glass inclosed water meter attached to the drinking fountain on the main floor were informed by Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage departments that the sample machine had been installed to give water customers some idea how the meters work and also to gauge the amount of water that fountains in the building cost the city.

DIES AT GALION

W. D. Hillis, Railroad Employe, Survived by 11 Children.

GALION—William D. Hillis, 64, railroad employe, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Findlay, South State road, early this morning after a 7-months illness.

He was born in Bucyrus May 1876, and Sept. 9, 1901 was married to Miss Amy Orr of Cleveland. For ten years he was employed by the Pennsylvania railroad company in Cleveland, and then worked for 20 years with the Big Four railroad in this city. He was a Spanish-American war veteran.

Mr. Hillis is survived by his wife and 11 children, six daughters and five sons. They are William D., of New York City; Neoland, of the Hawaiian Islands, Newton, residing in California, and Mrs. Findley, Mrs. Alvie Vaughan, Mrs. Guy O'Dell, Mrs. Alva Sharrock, Mrs. Henry Foote, Dorothy, Robert and Richard, all of Galion. There are also seven grandchildren and two sisters and four brothers.

The body was taken to the Snyder funeral home where services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, with Rev. W. A. Martin of the Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be made in Fairlawn cemetery.

MAMA CLAIMS AGE 107 YEARS

Woman, 80, Injured on Way to See Her Mother.

MOBILE, Ala.— (AP) —"How old are you?" a hospital nurse asked a colored woman, whose leg was broken in a street accident.

"Eighty," she replied.

"Where were you going?"

"I was taking my mama's clothes to her at my cousin's home."

Further questioning revealed that "mama" claimed to be 107 years old.

MILLERS HELP

Board Votes Electric Lights After Moths Intervene.

COLUMBUS, Neb.— (AP) —Electors of rural school district 32 were arguing whether to wire the school house to use electricity from the Loup river public power district.

Miller moths swarmed into the gas lamp, snuffing out the light. A flashlight was pressed into service long enough to take a vote—24 to 15 for electricity.

HITS PLAN OF RE-DISTRICTING

Richland Farm Bureau Goes on Record to Oppose Shift In Legislative System.

The Richland County Farm Bureau board of directors had passed a resolution today opposing the plan to re-district Ohio to give the state one senator and four representatives for each 200,000 population.

The board's action is in line with the Ohio Farm Bureau's organized opposition to the proposal on the basis that it would deprive rural communities of their share of representation in the Ohio general assembly.

It was pointed out by the Farm Bureau directors here that eight metropolitan counties in the state would have more representation than the other 80 counties.

Under the plan, the governor secretary of state and state auditor would be empowered to make the changes in the districts. State senators and representatives would continue to be elected as they are now.

In its resolution, the Richland County Farm Bureau board of directors urged members and farm families not to sign petitions for the re-apportionment.

Backers of the re-districting plan, working as the Ohio Federation for Equal Representation, are seeking 240,000 signatures to get the proposal on the state ballot Nov. 7.

Farm Bureau membership, represents about 1,400 rural families in Richland county, more than any other county in the state.

DIES AT AGE 81 IN CRESTLINE

Charles Berkircher Was Born In Crestline; Rites Saturday.

CRESTLINE — Charles Berkircher, 81, died Wednesday evening at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Broiler, 107 North Columbus street, where he resided.

He was born June 5, 1859 in Crestline, the son of Jacob and Caroline Strawhacher Berkircher. His wife, Elizabeth Schryer preceded him in death.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary Booth and Mrs. Broiler, both of Crestline.

GETS CHARTER

Colored Voters' Club Installs Officers At Meeting.

Attorney Stuart Cramer presented a charter to the Richland County Colored Voters' club in a meeting Wednesday night at Republican headquarters.

Officers were installed as follows: Jesse Williams, president; William Lindsay, vice president; R. Campbell, secretary; J. Brackings, treasurer; C. Turner, assistant treasurer; John Brooks, chairman of board of trustees; and Nathan Brooks, executive chairman.

COMMUNITY FUND ENDS FISCAL YEAR WITH $2,500 BALANCE

The Mansfield Community Fund closed its books June 1 with a balance of $2,250 left over from 1939 subscriptions, according to the report of W. C. Mansfield, treasurer, made yesterday afternoon at the Community Fund's annual meeting.

This sum is made up largely of belated pledges for 1939 that have been paid in recent months.

Forty trustees on the general board of the Community Fund were elected. Some were re-elections and some were new names added because of service to the Fund. C. N. Shultz was chairman of the nominating committee.

The new board of trustees is made up of Harold W. Arlin, H. G. Balyeat, Robert B. Black, A. E. Courtney, Fred Cahall, R. M. Calene, Dean Eckert, Mrs. Tom Ford, Charles W. Fuchs, Richard Fensch, Mrs. Mary Gilbert, T. J. Hanley, Charles Hoffman, Attorney James Hoffman, Attorney C. H. Henkel, Joy Herbert, Mrs. R. E. Hutchison, Norman K. Kann, Mrs. W. M. Layton, Mrs. V. H. Lodde, O. C. McCormick, Mathew Mayer, Mrs. George A. Mead, W. C. Mansfield, Mrs. Ambrose Middleton.

W. C. Mead, W. L. Miller, Robert Remy, A. C. Rhodes, George W. Stephens, George H. Smith, John T. Shook, C. K. Smaltz, C. N. Shultz, Rev. G. E. Swoyer, Joseph N. Scanlon, Dr. O. H. Schettler, C. L. Van Derau, Jane Williams and M. P. Wolcott.

Members of the board were selected, Shultz said, to represent industry, labor, business, the professions, citizens and the agencies that make up the Community Fund.

C. H. Henkel, president, has called a meeting of the new board of trustees to elect its executive committee for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Larwill room of Public library.

GIVEN $2,116

Richland County Receives Relief Allocation.

Richland county received $2,116 from the state today as the county's share of state relief funds for May.

The city of Mansfield, however, was still waiting for its state money to help pay combined city and county relief costs totaling $10,151 last month.

Funds are allocated on the basis of relief expenditures for the preceding month with the state's contribution usually averaging between 35 and 40 per cent of the total relief costs. The rest of the expense must be paid by the local sub-division.

WILD CONVICT MAKES ESCAPE FROM GUARDS

Bound to Tree With Own Set of Handcuffs, Officials Lose Automobile.

(By United Press)

WILMINGTON — Two Fulton county, Ga., police officers took extra precautions today to guard Benjamin Hughes, 26, colored fugitive from a Georgia prison camp, as they resumed an interrupted journey back to Atlanta.

Hughes gave his guards and an Ohio patrolman an exciting few hours yesterday when he overpowered guards, bound them with their own handcuffs and escaped in their automobile.

He was captured a few hours later by Sergeant E. P. Webb of the Ohio highway patrol after a chase in which Webb fired one shot.

Hughes who escaped the prison camp in 1935 while serving a long term sentence for armed robbery overpowered Captain J. D. Pagsdale and Sergeant C. E. Lyle of the Fulton county police while they were driving east of Huntington, W. Va.

After binding his two captors to a tree with their handcuffs, Hughes drove away in their car. He was sighted by Webb a short time later on a highway near Georgetown, O., about 80 miles northeast of Huntington.

Webb began the chase and when Hughes stopped suddenly, Webb swerved and came to a stop beside the fugitive. There he found himself facing a gun in Hughes' hands. But Webb rolled over on the seat of his car, kicked the gear into reverse and fired a shot at Hughes when the later fled again.

One-half mile east of Georgetown, Hughes' car cracked up on a curve in the highway. Hughes was thrown to the ground and before he could arise, Webb covered him with a gun.

Hughes was apprehended in Detroit two weeks ago and was being returned to Atlanta when he overpowered his guards. Ragsdale and Lyle came to Wilmington to regain custody of their prisoner.

DIES AT AGE 30

Mrs. Mary Sand of Crestline To Be Buried Saturday.

CRESTLINE—Mrs. Mary Edna Sand, 30, wife of Edwin E. Sand died Wednesday at the Mansfield General hospital.

Mrs. Sand had been ill for the past 6 months, but was only bedfast since Monday. Death was due to diabetic complications.

She was born July 25, 1909, at Galion, the daughter of Ira and Sarah Heitzban Schreck.

Surviving with her husband are three children Luella, Robert and Michael all at home; her mother, Mrs. Schreck Dinkle, of Bucyrus; a sister Doris Schreck of Chicago, Ill., and two brothers, Lloyd Schreck, and Charles Dinkle, both of Crestline.

The body will be removed from the Orie Garverick funeral home to the family home on Friday morning where friends may call until time of funeral service Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the English Lutheran church. Rev. S. A. Metzger will officiate and burial will be made in Greenlawn cemetery.

FIRST TO PAY

Scioto Conservancy District Meets Obligations.

KENTON —(AP)— Neil Ahlefeld, president of the Scioto Conservancy Drainage District board, reported today that cash was on hand to pay $630,000 in bonds this fall, making the district the first of its kind in Ohio to meet all obligations.

After the fall payment, Ahlefeld said, assessments against 2,700 farms in the district will be reduced from 96 to one per cent of drainage benefits. He added, however, that suits would be filed to enforce the district's claims against delinquents.

You Can't Print That!

(This is a compendium of tales that can only be told without names, because they're too true to print. If there is any resemblance to actual persons—living or dead—you've probably guessed right.)

* * * * *

Mr. X is one of New York's—one of the world's—greatest photographers, and for a while he was in love with a beautiful girl named Susan, and she loved him, he thought. They were engaged and the date was set, and she wore his diamond ring. But a few days before they were to be married, she waltzed to the altar with another man—twice as old as herself and ten times as wealthy as her fiance.

Of course, X. carried a terrific torch and a burning desire for revenge. And he was smart enough to find the revenge that would hit Susan where it hurt the most—in her vanity. He took Susan's kid sister, Mary—the ugly duckling of the family, who wore glasses and dressed plainly and worked in a music store—and he completely transformed her.

Because he is an artist at make-up, he changed her hair and her eyebrows and her mouth, and under his Pygmalion tutelage she learned how to dress and how to walk. Almost overnight, he made her the town's top model, and one of the most famous beauties who ever walked into the Stork club.

Then he married her.

They're very happy. Susan isn't. Just the other day, she and her wealthy husband were divorced.

(But you can't print that. Mary doesn't know that her romance was born of revenge, and most people don't know, or have forgotten, that she was an ugly duckling.)

* * *

PIETRO and Patricia rank among the first six dance teams in the world, currently headlining at one of the smarter supper rooms. She is flower-like and fragile, and his great appeal is the gentleness with which he handles her during their routines.

He lifts her as if she were made of Dresden china, and his eyes follow the flight of her little feet with a tenderness that is almost maudlin. When he twirls her about the floor he seems lost in a dream, terribly protective of her fragility.

But Pietro, this solicitous partner (who is, as often is the case, Patricia's husband) is in serious danger of having his beautiful profile altered by a quick left to the nose. A few of the tough lads who hang around the night spot have threatened to knock our hero's block off—because between shows his favorite sport is beating up the delicate little dream girl he handles with such care in the floor show!

(But you can't print that. No one would ever again think of them as the Romeo and Juliet of the dance.)

* * *

Mr. Y. is a Broadway producer who married the star of the show, a glamorous girl with charm and plenty of talent. When his last show opened this year, the cast was amused to find signs posted backstage, warning: "No petting allowed."

In smaller type the signs threatened suspension to any offenders caught spooning in the wings. After the show had been running a while, a man and wife in the cast violated the rule ever so mildly, and were suspended without pay.

Now the producer is a broad-minded fellow usually, and no one could quite understand why he should suddenly become as strict as the headmistress of a school for young ladies.

They don't know, of course, that in the show-before-last, Mr. Y. happened to wander backstage into his bride's dressing room to find her in the embrance of a lad who had a minor part in the play. He loved her so he didn't like to nag—but now the signs go for her, too.

A IS THE SON of a very famous American, now dead, and for two years he was crazy about a pretty girl who lives and works in Hollywood. Not long ago, she turned down his proposal for the ninety-first time, and explained gently that he might as well give up, she could never dream of marrying him.

So to prove he couldn't live without her, he decided he'd go to Europe to fight and, if possible, get killed. That, he figured, would make her sorry she was so cruel.

So he made a dramatic exit—he left on the next boat that was sailing for the danger zone, and the girl shed a few tears at his recklessness.

A arrived at a European city, ready for the fray. The day he got ashore, before he even had time to enlist, the town was bombed by the enemy. And A, who had been so anxious to face danger, heard the sound of falling shells and saw building tumble down. Somehow, everything looked different to him.

He got the next boat and came home!

(But you can't print that. His father was such a great man, and the country was so proud of him.)

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Joan Crawford found that role she went to New York for—and it's her greatest: motherhood by adoption. . . .

Recommended nerve-tonic to jittery Americans: Lincoln's goodbye address at the close of "Abe Lincoln In Illinois." . . . If you've missed the movie, you can hear it on records. . . .

Katharine Cornell, last of the stage greats to hold out against pictures, may be weakening if local reports are true. . . . She's supposed to be intrigued by "Jane Addams of Hull House." . . .

Once Miss Cornell rejected flatly a movie offer of some $100,000 PLUS the right to destroy the completed film if it didn't suit her. . . . She said "no" because she figured she was doing very well on the stage—and the contract oculd boomerang: if she didn't like the film, and kept it, the fan assumption would be that she was bad in it. . . . Miss Cornell sold film rights to her "Barrets of Wimpole Street" for a reputed $75,000, of which she retained a third. . . . At the time, her stage show was flourishing, but when she reopened, after the picture's release, her own business dived. . . . . .

BEN HECHT, the writing man, has a powerhouse script for his production at Columbia and Doug Fairbanks, jr., may have a hand (besides acting) in the handling. . . . The story Bob Taylor really wants to do is "Balloon Busters," script Metro bought from RKO. . . .

Those brave new production schedules being announced by the companies sound more like hopes than plans, in the light of local jitters over the foreign situation. . . . Hollywood is due for some terrific belt-tightening. . . . Symbolic was the Paramount sales convention, almost monastic in its quiet attention to business utterly lacking in the free flow of champagne, star and studio parties. . . . Once any studio's pep gatherings were conducted like fiestas. . . .

Carole Landis, the "Ping—she makes you purr—Girl," may live that one down, but she still looks like Loretta Young when she puts on a brunet wig. . . . Ping Landis has more oomph and it than Oomph Sheridan, or It Bow, but not so much as Mary Martin. . . .

* * *

HENRY WILCOXON was launched on a local movie career by C. B. DeMille when the latter happened in on a Wilcoxon test while looking for a "Crusades" lead. . . . Henry got the part, and stayed on. . . . Lately the Wilcoxon career has been limited, and he was on the Paramount lot looking for an interview with DeMille—at the right time, because they were looking for a hero for "Mystery Sea Raider," and Wilcoxon got the part, plus a term contract later. . . . That's like Steffi Duna, who has been buffeted around plenty. . . . Steffi is doing all right now, since she started anew in "Magnificent Fraud." . . . And she got that chance because a messenger, delivering a test reel for the producer, brought the wrong one—"La Cucaracha," the experimental color film in which Steffi danced!

250 EXPECTED AT CONVENTION

Annual Butler-Weller Sunday School Conference To Be Held at Union High.

The annual Butler-Weller township Sunday school convention will be held Sunday, beginning at 9:30 a. m., in the Union Rural high school auditorium in Weller township.

The morning session will include the lesson study and a brief program. A picnic dinner will be served at noon and the afternoon program will get under way at 1:30 p. m. Rev. T. McDonald of Savannah will be the principal speaker.

More than 250 persons from the Pavonia, Franklin, Oakland, Olivesburg and Adario Sunday schools are expected to attend.

Glen Boling of the Franklin church is president of the convention. Other officers include Leo Fair, Adario, vice president; Miss Verdie McQuillen, Adario, secretary and Russell Pittenger, Oakland church, treasurer.

INDIANS ASK FREE FISHING

SPOKANE, Wash.—(U.P.)—Whether Indians can fish in Washington without a state license will be placed before the State Supreme Court once again.

The question, growing out of an 1855 treaty in which the Indians claim they received the right to fish at their usual places on the Columbia river, previously was carried to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

A Federal District Court ruled the Indians needed a license. When the case reached the circuit court, that body held that jurisdiction of the state courts had not been exhausted, and recommended that it be brought up once more.

CREDIT BETTER.

VANCOUVER, B. C. —(U.P.)— Married men pay their bills more promptly than bachelors, according to Russel Baird, chairman of the educational committee of the Vancouver Retail Credit Grantors' association. According to Baird, spending habits of married men are more fixed than those of their single brothers.

Old Army Planes Reconditioned for Allies

Some of the nearly 200 old Northrop A-17 attack bombers released by the U. S army to private aircraft interests for resale to the Allies are shown as they were being overhauled and painted by mechanics at Mitchell field, L. I. The Northrops are two-seaters, each armed with five 30-caliber machine guns and equipped to carry loads of bombs.

CONSTABLE RETURNS

GALION—Daniel C. Barnett of Galion, Polk township constable, has returned from the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Dayton, where he underwent an operation recently. He is recovering rapidly.

NEW PLAYER

Musician Needed to Imitate Anti Tank Gun.

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) Robin Hood Dell officials are looking for a unique musician—one who plays an anti-tank gun

The Dell, planning to open this season with the Philadelphia orchestra playing Tchaikovsky's "Overture of 1812" to the accompaniment of cannon, has obtained the anti-tank gun from a local National Guard unit. The original instrumentation of the famed Russian composer provided for cannon, and Conductor Eugene Ormandy wanted one.

A local of the American Federation of Musicians, however, in a letter to Samuel R. Rosenbaum, Dell president, declared that cannon become percussian instruments when inserted in an orchestra and that a union musician must be provided to fire them.

"Under the circumstances," Rosenbaum answered in another letter, "we shall arrange to hold auditions among members of the local, who may apply for the position, in order to select a performer who can play the cannon with due regard for its musical value . . . and we would appreciate it if you would let us know which members of the local wish to apply.

Applications should be addressed to us for the position of symphony bombardier."

U. S. Sues for Airport Site on Tropical Isles

HONOLULU —(AP)— The Federal government has filed suit for possession of the Palmyra Islands, a group of 54 tropical atolls which have been described as a movie director's dream.

Defending ownership of the group are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Fullard-Leo, who bought them for about $10,000 in 1922.

The navy wants the islands to establish a $1,100,000 naval base, and contends that the government is owner of the group in absolute fee. The Hawaii Land Court has recognized the Fullard-Leos' title and the latter have been paying taxes of about $80 a year.

Because of their wild tropic beauty the Palmyras have achieved some celebrity, though they are far off regular steamer routes. The Fullard-Leos have turned down offers from a nudist colony and from a gambling casino promoter.

WARNS FARMERS OF NEW ILLNESS

Sleeping Sickness Begins To Appear Among Horses; Agent Explains It.

With the arrival of warm weather, farmers in the Richland county area are being warned by livestock authorities to be on the lookout for outbreaks of horse sleeping sickness which has appeared in Ohio in the past two years.

Cases were reported in 18 Ohio counties last year, while there was an epidemic in the northern section of the state two years ago.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said he had heard of no cases of the disease in Richland county so far this year.

In many sections of the nation the disease has been combatted successfully with a new chick embryo vaccine which protects the animal for an entire season. It is believed that the disease is carried by mosquitoes and other blood-sucking insects.

Farmers were urged by veterinarians to drain useless ponds and puddles that provide breeding places for mosquitoes and to take immediate steps to have horses vaccinated should a case of sleeping sickness appear.

Symptoms of the disease include lagging vitality, irritability, and loss of appetite.

Skirboll To Take Over Operation Of Ritz Theater

Announcement was made today that the Ritz theater will be taken over, under a lease, by William Skirboll, Cleveland theater man, effective Sunday.

Skirboll is lessor of the Madison theater, being operated at the present time by Warner Brothers, and while Skirboll is associated with Warners only as a co-operator in that theater, the new lease brings the Ritz practically within the family circle that is made up of the Madison, Ohio, and Majestic. The latter two are also operated by Warners.

Sol Bernstein, who has operated the Ritz since 1930 and who has owned it for several years, will retire from active theater work because of ill health. While he will be out of the city frequently, he expects to retain his home here.

Skirboll will continue the Ritz policy as a second run house for class A pictures. His resident manager will be Ben Pattin, formerly with the Palace theater at Toledo, who will take over his position Sunday.

OF HEAVEN'S BENEDICTION++

By Margaret Gorman Nichols

CHAPTER XXXV.

Brooke had dressed so hurriedly when Rod phoned that her things were still scattered about. She flung off her wrap and began picking them us, thinking, "I'll call Julian in the morning . . . No. I'll call Rod first. I must see him first." She tried to hold her thoughts in check but they were spilling over in happy torrents. . . .

It was a long time before she slept and it was noon when she awoke. She called Rod immediately.

His voice was edged with sarcasm. "Not just getting in from Connecticut?"

Brooke said, "I've been sleeping for hours. I want to see you today, Rod. We could have lunch . . ."

An hour later she met him downstairs and they walked some distance to a restaurant.

She thought, "I could have sent you a telegram, Rod. Oh, but I am sorry for you! You're sure of yourself again. Your step is jaunty. What you did wasn't wicked. It was just wrong and hasty . . ."

She said, "I'm not very hungry. Barney is a splendid host and the dinner was excellent. He enjoys his place in Connecticut tremendously." Then, "We talked about you, Rod. He wants you back. . ."

He stared, disbelieving.

She nodded, "Yes. So your new job is only a temporary one. You'll be back with Barney soon." He was touched. "Have I you to thank for this, too?"

"No. Barney himself."

"Back with Barney. That was too good to hope for ."

She put her hand over his.

"And, Rod, I can't let you go on believing I'm the same girl I was in January and that I'll marry you when you are free."

* * *

He glanced up quickly but she went on. "You can't see it, can you, that I'm not the same? Oh, I look the same, yes! But it's called growing up when you can face realities and you cease to put a halo around the heads of certain people."

Not even around Julian's head, she thought. His stubbornness, the quick flare of his temper. . .

"You don't love me, Brooke?" To him that was incredible.

"No, Rod. I don't. It's all gone out of me. If I had stayed in Chatham, I'd have gone on loving my idea of you It wasn't real It was only a young girl's dream. And, Rod, I believe strongly that even if I had not come to love Julian, I would have come to the end of loving you. . . ."

He drew back. "Oh! Julian!"

"We're in love with each other."

"I see."

"I don't want to hurt you—or anybody, Rod."

"I suppose you'll marry him."

"He hasn't asked me to marry him. He thinks I'm going to marry you."

"Then are you so sure . . "

"Surer of that than of anything I have ever known."

"Well. . . ." He took a deep breath. "So that's how it is. Well . . . I don't suppose I'll see you again."

"Oh, but undoubtedly you will." She would always remember his birthday and seeing him would give her no emotional shock. She thought, "I'm thinking of myself as Julian's wife, seeing Rod at Barney's parties and being really glad to see him, glad that he's back with Barney again and not very far from Grace."

"I deserve this," he said.

"Don't say that. You didn't commit a crime. And I know now, too, Rod, that neither my love for you nor yours for me was ever very strong. Mine was only in my imagination. . . ." Julian's words.

They ate little and he walked back to the hotel with her.

"I'll have to make a brand-new set of plans now," he said.

It had become painful. . . . "You'll be successful, Rod. You always wanted that. You'll earn it." She was thanking Barney over and over.

After he left, thoughts of him remained. She hoped that she saw his future clearly—a return to Barney, a series of promotions, a series of girls. No fear that there would be a lack of girls! His second wife he would select slowly and carefully. And Brooke did not feel she was far wrong in thinking that Rod's second wife would be a pretty, restful girl with a solid family background, social position and a good income.

Funny, she thought, when she knew now that she must call Julian, she had no idea where he lived. Turning the pages of the directory quickly, she found his number and called it. A singsong Chinese voice responded.

"Mr. Carleton is in Washington," the voice informed her. "He will not return until Wednesday."

Her hand dropped. Wednesday was an eternity. . . .

Having seen a series of trains discharge a series of oddly assorted passengers, Brooke, wearing a dark frock with a black and white print jacket and an absurd high-crowned little black hat, stood on the platform at a little before 6 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. The train that was bringing Julian back would be in shortly. His Chinese servant had told her what time when she insisted upon knowing.

How quietly I stand, she thought, with hundreds of people pouring about me, bumping into me, begging my pardon, talking to friends about business appointments and what shows to see—at the most important moment of my life. Her heart pounded and yet there was no fear in her, not a single ugly doubt. "Surer of that than of anything I have ever known," she had told Rod on Sunday. Julian would come. . . And everything that had happened to her had been but a preparation for this—to find herself on a late afternoon in August standing on a station platform waiting for a man named Julian Carlton. . . .

She felt loved and—safe. Beyond the moment of their meeting she did not think. There was no need for her thoughts to race ahead, planning, wondering . . . He would take complete charge of her. Never were minutes longer. . .

Then his train. . . . Her heart was a hammer, beating crazily. The train stopped. Always, she thought, she would remember that a stout man with a scowl alighted first, followed by a foreign-looking woman with a baby, then a pretty girl in green. . . . Then Julian, frowning intent, his brown felt hat carelessly on his bent head, a brown gladstone bag in his hand.

He did not see her. No telepathy, she thought, her bright mouth curving. People brushed past her. Julian gave his bag to a redcap, thrust out his determined chin and looked ahead, intent on his thoughts. . . .

He did not see her until she touched the sleeves of his dark coat. . . .

"Brooke!"

It didn't matter even if she did say the wrong things to him . . . But suddenly she couldn't say anything for loving him, for seeing in his face her thoughts—her reason for being here. For his frown faded out and his blue eyes deepened. Understanding without words. . . .

* * *

She had to speak so loudly to be heard above the confusion that it seemed to her she was shouting for every one to hear. . . .

"You wouldn't let me tell you that I'm not going to marry Rod—that I've been in love with you since Maine. . . ."

He stood still, looking at her. Then he laughed. "Can't you see it still, the silly look of a man in love? Oh, my darling . . . And even before I kiss you I must tell you that you are going to marry me tomorrow. . . ."

When she went to him and he put his arms around her, she became a part of him. . . .

THE END.

QUOTA ON RATS

Convicts Limited To Only One Pet Per Inmate.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Hereafter, a quota of one white rat per inmate will be enforced in Ohio penitentiary. Warden Frank Henderson made the ruling today when the adoption of too many Albino rats created a potential health menace in the prison.

HASTE MAKES WASTE

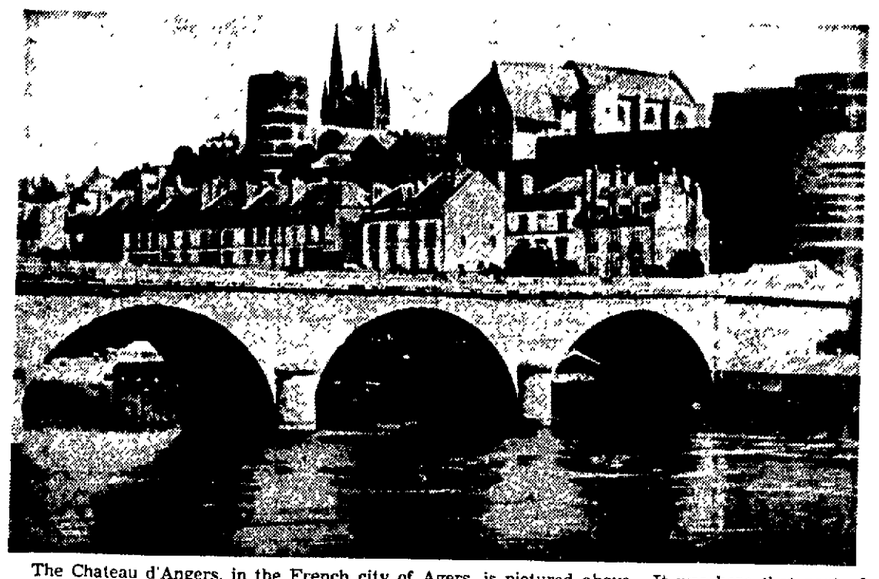
DENVER —(AP)— Highway Patrolman Tom Singleton gave a youthful driver a traffic ticket. "I think Ill punch you in the kisser," said the youth. He stepped from his car, slipped and broke his leg.

GET VACATIONS

Three employes at the Muir Cut Rate Drug store, 90 North Main street, will receive vacations this summer under the 1940 chain-wide vacation schedule of the organization recently announced.

The drug company for the past 18 years has awarded vacations to all employes completing a certain period of service with the company. This year's schedule will affect more than 125 employes of the company in Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

New Headquarters of French Government



The Chateau d'Angers, in the French city of Agers, is pictured above. It was here that part of the French government was forced to flee when Paris became threatened by the Nazi blitzkrieg. Also in Angers is the exiled Polish government.

WILLING TO SKIP HIS WIFE

But This Irate Husband Wants Warrant For Furniture.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. —(AP)—It was 4 o'clock in the morning. Joe D. Browning, justice of the peace, answered the telephone.

A voice said, "I want a search warrant. A fellow stole my wife."

"I can't give you a warrant to find your wife," Justice Browning said.

"Well, just skip her," the caller said. "What I really want back is my furniture. The fellow stole that, too."

SOMETHING WRONG HERE.

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— When a man receiving aid from the state as a blind man starts driving a truck, it's time to investigate. So said officials in bringing into court Auburn Cass, 36. Cass pleaded guilty to receiving $50 a month through perjured claims.
